NEW NAZI ARMY TO RUMANIA

ON THE HUNGARIAN-RUMANIAN FRONTIER, Dec. 2 (AP)—Four fresh German divisions were moving through Hungary en route to Rumania today as reports trickling across the border told of increasing anarchy throughout that country.

Unconfirmed reports from Bucharest said these additional German troops would attempt to restore order there and in other large Rumanian cities where Iron Guard extremists have taken bloody revenge on officials of the ousted regime of former King Carol II.

The German divisions, moving by rail through Slovakia and thence through Hungary, will bolster many Nazi detachments already guarding Rumania's oil fields and pipelines.

Four divisions mean approximately 60,000 men. German strength in Rumania previously has been estimated as high as 200,000.

KING IN NAZI PARADE

Over the frontier came a picture of Rumania's embattled Iron Guard split now into three factions and the Rumanian army apparently wavering over what course to take.

One section of the green-shirted guardsmen was said to be supporting the guard leader, Vice-Premier Horia Sima, who has besought discipline.

A second was reported behind Ion Codreanu, father of Corneliu Zelea Codreanu, slain founder of the guard, whose death during the Carol regime it has been avenging with a blood purge.

A third section, and by far the biggest, reportedly was out of control.

A parade in Bucharest of a German motorized division in which King Mihai rode in an auto, was interpreted in Hungary as a warning that German legions are preparing.

Southampton Laid In Ruin by Bombers

SOUTHAMPTON, England, Dec. 2 (INS)—Many important industrial plants in this key point of Great Britain's defense were damaged or wrecked in a series of terrific German air raids over the week-end, it was established today.

Hundreds of workers trudging through debris-choked streets arrived at places of employment this morning only to discover them in complete ruins.

The business area, known to countless American tourists for its sprawling docks and busy harbor on the River Itchen, was the main objective of the raids.

The suburbs suffered as well. Many houses were demolished.

A communal underground shelter received a direct hit from a heavy bomb. Rescue parties were still extricating the bodies of the victims today.

TEAR DOWN RUINS

Throughout the day crowds gathered at central points to discuss the future, particularly as to whether jobs are gone forever as a result of the destruction wrought by Hitler's Luftwaffe.

Casualties in last night's new waves of attack were fewer than on Saturday, it was understood.

The emergency services which have operated so speedily in restoring some semblance of normality to towns and cities previously bombed went into action with characteristic thoroughness.

Hundreds of "pioneers" tackled demolition work in the center of the city, tearing down buildings rendered unsafe. A serious problem was faced in feeding and redistributing the large number of persons rendered homeless.

ARMY FEEDS HOMELESS

Military units co-operated with civil defense organizations and engineers in restoring public services, which were resumed on an emergency basis before noon.

Army rations were distributed to the homeless.

Some 200 planes took part in the raid, coming over singly and in small waves.

Thousands were homeless as a result of the raid, wherein a procession of German bombers flew over the town and "continued their mission of frightfulness until early

NEW YORK, Dec. 2 (AP)—Undersea and aircraft raiders loosed a wide-spread attack on a convoy of British vessels about 400 miles west of Ireland last night and early today.

Apparently 10 vessels were attacked. Repeated distress signals picked up here by Mackay Radio indicated the raiders were running down their prey in an eastward zig-zag chase which lasted for more than five tense hours.

Full details were lacking, but radio listeners heard distress calls from at least five vessels early today in addition to five others previously reported, all from the same general vicinity.

The chase was indicated as covering a course of about 250 miles, which led to the belief in marine circles the attacking vessels included the auxiliary cruiser which Berlin announced yesterday had already sunk 79,000 tons of British shipping.

Several of the stricken vessels reported submarine attacks and others said they were being bombed by aircraft. There was no indication of the number of raiders.

FLEE FOR COAST

Marine circles said submarines, of course, could not cover 250 miles in five hours—the indicated length of the attack—and concluded the raiders were numerous.

The calls for help did not tell whether the convoy was bound for England or away from the beleaguered island. There were some indications, from the positions messaged by the ships, that they had put about in an attempt to reach the Irish coast after the raiders appeared.

The positions given by the vessels covered a rough rectangle running eastward from the position of the first attack, a rectangle about 240 nautical miles long and perhaps 120 miles wide.

GREEKS GRAB 5000 IN ROUT

ATHENS, Dec. 2—Capture of 5,000 Italians, the largest mass of prisoners yet taken by the Greek army, was announced today from the northern front.

Their surrender, dispatches said, was the signal for a general retreat of other Italian forces in the area, leaving a huge gap in the Fascist center.

Fresh Italian troops rushed to bolster the sagging defense lines earlier had been reported being smashed back with the regiments they came to reinforce, and the Greeks claimed "important" new advances all along the Albanian battlefield.

Mention of the exact place where the front was reported smashed was forbidden by military authorities. They permitted mention merely that that was in the north.

FLEEING ITALIANS POUNDED

One frontline report said: "The victory, without exaggeration, is of exceptional importance, for the enemy line in this sector has been destroyed and all danger eliminated for us."

In the Pogradetz sector the Italians were said to be rushing headlong toward Elbasani while further south reinforced Fascist troops suffered a severe defeat near Fremet. These troops left their artillery and machine guns in position as the Greeks stormed the Italian mountain defenses and captured the abandoned material in a series of fierce bayonet charges.

British and Greek airmen pounded and hammered the fleeing Italians.

Stressing the need for increased aircraft support, the Athens radio issued an appeal to Britain for more help, according to a Reuters dispatch.—Editor's Note.

Star Air Program Spurs Gifts to Christmas Ship

By JAMES DOOLING

Hundreds of telephone calls, postcards and letters from newly enlisted workers of all parts of New England were received today at headquarters of A CHRISTMAS SHIP FOR ENGLAND after the Christmas Ship all-star broadcast through Station WEEI.

With the aid of these new volunteers, with the aid of the thousands of unselfish persons who have already been actively engaged in collecting warm clothing for England's bombed civilians, workers in the campaign believed that the number of cases filled with contributions would pass the hundred-mark this week.

But there is still great necessity for carrying on this Christmas Ship campaign to greater heights. There can be no let-down in the work, for this is the critical time. Only a few days are left to reach the goal.

For every 10 persons who can be helped by the generous efforts made by New Englanders thus far, there are a hundred who are still in dire straits this bitter winter in England.

Lord Lothian, British Ambassador to the United States, made that clear in the message he dispatched from Washington, D. C., to Harold G. Kern, publisher of the Boston Sunday Advertiser-Record-American. It read:

TELLS APPRECIATION

"Have heard with great appreciation of your plan to send a Christmas Ship to England loaded with clothing for the distressed victims of the air raids."

"I can assure you that nothing is more needed by my suffering compatriots, who have in many cases lost their all at the hands of the King's enemies, than warm winter garments."

"Their gratitude towards you and your organization in Boston for this most generous action will, I know, be unbounded as is mine."

"May the Christmas Ship be full."

(Signed)

"LOTHIAN."

This message, telephoned by long-distance from the British embassy, was followed by a formal telegram. It was read over the air by Newcomb F. Thompson, radio editor of the Boston Herald-Examiner, who acted as master of ceremonies for the WEEI broadcast.

Publisher Kern himself delivered a message of thanks to the kind-hearted people of New England for their splendid response to the Christmas Ship appeal.

"Very frankly I say to you,"

he declared, "that I do not believe it is possible for me to make known fully how grateful I am, in behalf of our newspapers, for the way in which everybody connected with the Christmas Ship for England has found it worthy of the untiring effort and moving spirit they have so magnificently demonstrated."

In his greetings from the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, Lieut. Gov. Horace T. Cahill, acting chief executive, pointed out that there are differences of opinion of how much help should be extended to

RADIO BAN ON TUNES OF ASCAP MEMBERS; MUSIC STRIKE NEAR

A new move in radio's music war was made today when the Columbia Broadcasting System put into effect a new policy barring from its non-commercial programs all tunes controlled by "ASCAP," the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers.

By this action famous compositions by Irving Berlin, Victor Herbert, George Gershwin, Jerome Kern, Cole Porter or any other member of ASCAP, living or dead, were barred from unsponsored network programs over 125 of the nation's 800 radio stations.

Mutual Broadcasting System's station WOR will follow suit next Sunday, and on Dec. 15, the National Broadcasting Co. also will delete ASCAP music from its non-commercial, it was announced.

HUB STATIONS SPLIT

Boston's radio stations split wide open on the question of using ASCAP music.

Four stations, WEEZ of the NBC blue network, WNAC on NBC red network, WAAR, Mutual, and WEEI, Columbia, banned ASCAP music from their sustaining and non-commercial programs.

Four other stations, WMEX, WHDH, WCOP and WORL, declared they would continue using ASCAP tunes when and as they pleased for the time being.

CBS has now taken the initiative in an $8,000,000 musical price war between the National Association of Broadcasters and ASCAP, which controls 90 per cent of the music of native and foreign composers heard in this country.

Imminent threat of a music strike on Jan. 1 was also increased. If this strike takes place, tunes of most popular composers will be banned from the airways.

The whole situation comes about because on Dec. 31 the five-year contract between radio station owners and ASCAP expires.

Meanwhile, both ASCAP and Broadcast Music, Inc., the network's newly formed organization of composers, raced to recruit as many composers as possible.

SEE ROYALTIES DOUBLED

Gena Buck, president of ASCAP, announced addition of 44 members, including such names as Randall Thompson, Eugene Ormandy and Jimmy Dorsey, and said his membership now totals 1165 composers, authors and 140 publishers.

ASCAP wants to make a new contract by which it will reduce fees to 500 individual stations for music played on local programs and charge the chains 75 per cent of their gross income for unrestricted use of ASCAP music on network broadcasts.

At present, ASCAP collects royalties from individual radio stations. All money it receives is distributed to its members according to the popularity of its songs.

The broadcasters, who have hired a rival stable of composers, assert that ASCAP's new contract would double the $1,142,000 income it got from radio stations in 1939.

Cambridge Pair Die of Suffocation

Lying on their bedroom floor, one on each side of the charred and smouldering bed, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis McDonald of Broadway, Cambridge, were found dead today of suffocation.

Their 11-year-old son, Edward, made the discovery when he awoke to find the sun shining, feared he was late for school and jumped up to see why his mother had not called him.

When the boy opened the door of his parents' bedroom, a burst of smoke greeted him. Crying for help, he summoned neighbors, but when they rushed into the flat Mr. and Mrs. McDonald were dead.

Police and Rescue Co. No. 1 of the fire department were called.

They found Mrs. Anna McDonald, 35, on the floor on the side of the bed nearest the door. The body of Lewis McDonald, 45, lay on the floor on the other side and it was thought both may have tried to reach the door but were overcome.

Dr. Alexander Mahlowitz of Cambridge st., Cambridge, who was called by police, said the couple had been dead several hours.

Police said they believed one of the couple may have been smoking in bed during the night, dropping a cigarette in dozing off to sleep again.

Although the bedding and mattress were charred and still smoking, the fire had not damaged the room itself.

The McDonalds had another child, Marilyn, 8, who has been staying with her maternal grandparents in Somerville.

Long Would Tax Land Acquired By Charity Groups

That man's here again! State Tax Commissioner Henry F. Long, who has already made Massachusetts citizens shudder with his proposed 3 percent sales tax and his actual raising of the auto excise tax, thought up a new one today.

This time Long has petitioned the Legislature to have any additional land secured by charitable institutions taxed beginning Jan. 1, 1942.

The law now allows exemption on all land owned by such occupants would continue to be exempt.

Blast Kills Worker In West End, 6 Hurt

One man was injured fatally and six were severely burned today when a 30-gallon fuel-oil tank exploded in the midst of a group of workers resurfacing Embankment rd., near Revere st., West End.

The victim who died of injuries was Bernard O'Donnell, 37, of Day st., Roxbury.

He was pumping air into the oil tank to build up pressure for a flame jet which was being used to thaw a frozen section of the roadway.

SIX HUMAN TORCHES

The terrific force of the blast crushed O'Donnell's chest and fractured his jaw.

The spraying oil was instantly ignited and the roaring burst of flame turned six nearby laborers into human torches.

Among those was Francis McHugh, 22, of Huntington ave., Roxbury. He was holding the nozzle of the thawing apparatus.

With his clothing ablaze, he ran screaming for several hundred yards until rescuers hurled him to the ground and rolled him in overcoats.

IRON LUNG FAILS

Rev. Dana Greeley, pastor of the Arlington St. Church and former Harvard football star, ran to the scene from his home in Charles River sq. to assist in first aid.

So did Mrs. Frederick Gow, also of Charles River sq.

O'Donnell, the man with the crushed chest and fractured jaw, was placed in an iron lung at C. City Hospital, but he died a few moments later.

The noise of the explosion and the shrieks of the injured attracted a crowd of several hundred spectators.

TRAFFIC IN SNARL

Traffic in nearby Charles and Beacon sts. was jammed for half an hour, as police ambulances and cruising cars removed the victims to City Hospital.

Those injured were:

EDWARD O'DONNELL, St. Charles st., South End, first and second degree burns of both legs.

FRANCIS McHUGH, 22, Huntington ave., Roxbury, second and third degree burns of both legs.

THOMAS LYONS, Tremont st., Roxbury, second and third degree burns of both legs.

THOMAS FAHERTY, 26, Darling st., Roxbury, first degree burns of face and neck.

LAWRENCE SAGESSE, 24, Chelsea st., East Boston, burns of face and legs.

EDWARD TRACY, South Worthington st., Roxbury, first and second degree burns of both legs.

GOVERNOR GAINS 100 VOTES NET

Gov. Saltonstall scored recount vote gains of 137 in outlying communities today as Atty-Gen. Paul A. Dever picked up a net of 37 in two precinct retabulations in Ward 1, East Boston.

Most notable of the Saltonstall gains was in Salisbury, where the recount reversed the standing of the candidates in the original post-election tally.

Today's figures gave Saltonstall 711, Dever 663, as compared to the first count of Saltonstall 670, Dever 717. Net recount pickup for Saltonstall in Salisbury was 95.

He scored net gains of 15 votes in Winthrop, three in Rockland, two in Easton, two in Holbrook and one in Hanson.

Dever gained two votes in West Bridgewater.

Norwood gave Dever a gain of 2; Scituate, Plympton and Norwell remained the same, but Duxbury, Hull and Hingham gave the Governor gains of 16, 4 and 1, respectively.

Dever picked up 38 votes in Precinct 5, Ward 1, East Boston, then lost one in Precinct 4 of the same ward.

Dever forces won a first skirmish in Ward 1, two minutes after the recount began.

Atty. Arthur V. Sullivan, Dever's chief counsel, successfully protested a purported Saltonstall ballot cast in Precinct 1.

The cross on the ballot was on the line below Saltonstall's name and was opposite a blank left for writing in the name of any name not printed on the ballot.

William A. Motley, Jr., chairman of the election commission, ruled the ballot non-valid.

LOGGERS' VOTE FIGHT

Exception to the ruling was promptly filed by counsel for Gov. Saltonstall.

Chairman Motley forestalled numerous expected protests against ballots cast by logging house residents by announcing a state law, restricting such votes, has been ruled not applicable to Boston.

Counsel for the rival candidates, however, indicated they might take this issue to the courts.

Boston wards scheduled for today's recount included 1, East Boston; 12, Roxbury; 18, Hyde Park, and 19, Jamaica Plain.

In the latter three wards, the vote is being retabulated in local contests as well as in the governorship fight.

Governor Saltonstall's original official lead of 7430 was cut to under 600, as the Boston recount started.

COUNT FOR 2 WEEKS

Anticipating that the recount here will take about 10 working days and run into two weeks of expired time, Saltonstall supporters are still confident today Dever could not reverse the Governor's re-election.

Complete results of the Winthrop recount, announced today, showed a net gain of 15 votes for Saltonstall.

New total for Dever in Winthrop was 3522 as compared with 3524 in the first official tally, a loss of two. New Saltonstall total was 5654 as compared with a first count of 5641, a gain of 13.

With Boston beginning the long count today, it was announced all the rest of the state would be finished by the time the Hub vote is retabulated. The heavy Boston vote in the election showed 159,213 for Dever and 135,874 for Saltonstall.

880 Dynamite Sticks Stolen in Bangor, Pa.

BANGOR, Pa., Dec. 2 (AP)—Theft of 880 sticks of dynamite and 8000 blasting caps from a storage magazine near Bangor was disclosed today by Asst. County Detective John Ruppert who said the missing explosive was "enough to blow this town off the map."

BAY STATE DEER SEASON OPENS; HUNTERS WARNED

The Bay State's six-day season on deer opened at dawn today on a note of caution and warning. Pointing to a high number of accidents in Maine, Director James E. Agnew of the State Division of Fisheries and Game, urged hunters to use extreme caution before firing.

Since the Maine season opened several men have been killed. Agnew at the same time warned that in this state only shotguns and bows and arrows may be used. Rifles are barred and hunting dogs must not be allowed to run during the deer season.

One deer is the limit for the six days and a report on its death must be made to the state division or local game warden in writing.

Deer are plentiful, Agnew said. Hunting is permitted in all counties except Duke and Nantucket.

ELSIE ROBINSON writes the woman's viewpoint, discusses everyday affairs and problems, regularly in the Boston American.

Lawrence Safety Director Indicted

LAWRENCE, Dec. 2—Secret indictment of the Lawrence public safety director, Thomas F. Galvin, and his campaign manager, Atty. William P. Reilly, was revealed today when both were arraigned in Superior Court charged with conspiracy to solicit bribes.

The indictments were returned last week by the Essex County grand jury which, for three weeks, investigated charges of job-selling in the Lawrence police and fire departments.

The grand jury will continue probing into Lawrence municipal affairs and numerous other indictments are expected to come out of its investigation into various city departments.

Galvin and Reilly both pleaded not guilty to the indictment today and Judge Raoul H. Beaudryen set bail at $2000 each, pending trial.

Their indictment is the result of months of investigation, first by State Police at request of the civil service commission, whose director is Ulysses Lupien, a Lawrence mill executive.

A voluminous report on the probe by state detectives was made to the Civil Service board, as a result of which Director Lupien requested the grand jury investigation.

At the same time he requested that Dist. Atty. Hugh A. Cregg of Essex County not handle the investigation himself, but that some one entirely dissociated with Lawrence or Lawrence politics be placed in charge.

Dist. Atty. Cregg therefore designated his third assistant, James C. Roy, of Marblehead, to handle the grand jury inquiry.

Volunteers Open Yule Drive for Aged

More than 200 persons, including city and state officials, opened a drive for the Old People's Christmas committee of the Volunteers of America at the Parker House today.

Plans were laid for giving Christmas dinners and entertainments to 1000 aged as well as serving a Christmas feast to men at the Hanover st. headquarters of the Volunteers. The dinner has grown to such proportions that it is now held at the Boston City Club.

Gordon Creighton, chairman at the meeting, outlined the plans which call for a drive to raise $5000.

Mayor Tobin bought the first 100 tickets for the benefit.

Anti-Sabotage Bill Signed by Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2 (INS)—President Roosevelt today signed the Summers bill applying the drastic World War anti-sabotage act to the present national defense emergency.

The measure provides penalties up to $10,000 in fines and ten years imprisonment for a wilful destruction of property used in the national defense or interference with the defense program through sabotage.

$25,000 Grange Hall Fire in Topsfield

SHIRTS FROM NINE OTHER LARGE AMERICAN CITIES...

$2.29

You who have worn these shirts need read no further. But for you who haven't a word may be necessary as to WHY they usually sell for more—and are worth it. First: A finer broadcloth is used (2x2), lustrous and woven of exceptionally fine Egyptian cotton. Second, the cloth is woven by perhaps the leader among fine weavers of broadcloth in England. Third, they're tailored in New England, cut with extreme care to insure comfort, better fit and appearance—GUARANTEED not to shrink below the marked size. Fourth, extra tailoring refinements—French front, flaretails, self-facings, earmarks of good shirts. That's why they sell here regularly at $3.50—and are worth $3.50. Come Monday, save $1.21 on each. In white only—collar attached style, 14 to 17½; neckband style 14 to 17½, sleeve 32 to 35, $2.29. Write or phone HUBbard 4250 till 9 P. BRITAIN TO CURB SLACKER SPIRIT

(A weakening of the British civilian front and partial infiltration in this process even into the army is revealed for the first time in the following exclusive dispatch from London, which also discloses the British government is mapping severe measures to prevent a "slacker" spirit from developing. It is noteworthy that this remarkable dispatch was passed by the British military censorship.)

By MERRILL MUELLER

LONDON, Dec. 1 (INS)—Winter listlessness is setting in early in England. I can already see here the same traces of over-complacency and over-confidence that I saw in France last winter. Only this time it is the civilian front—behind the Air Force, Navy and Army, although the Army is partially infected—which is weakening.

Recent and numerous pep talks to the public by government leaders indicate that the government is awake to the need for a number of maneuvers to keep listlessness from spreading. The measures under consideration by the government are:

1—Further taxation, principally of the higher classes in answer to labor's appeal for "full conscription" of wealth and an end to what labor alleges to be "easy tax-dodging by the wealthy."

2—Means of evacuating cities and rehousing bombed refugees—a problem which, despite months of brilliant talk, still finds bombed cities overcrowded and people living publicly hand-to-mouth amid filth and stoically "taking it."

3—Expansion of the army, with the accent on calling up English "slackers" and certain foreign persons whose continued presence in England as civilians raises troublesome questions.

4—Further steps to hold down inflation tendencies and control the constantly rising cost of living.

5—Ferreting out the war profiteers of whom there are many.

6—A stronger program for cleaning up bomb damage which even Britain's home newspapers are now able to admit can be improved by conscription of "useless" white collar men and the redirection of some of the army's endeavors.

Hubby Naming Lobster Fisher Wins Divorce

SALEM, Dec. 2—Judge John V. Phelan, in Essex county probate court today, granted a decree nisi to Kenneth K. Goodell, 31, automobile service station manager, who charged his wife made love even to her uncle and to his.

Custody of the 13-year-old daughter, Lois Mae Goodell, was awarded the husband with a provision that the may take the child at reasonable times.

The Goodell divorce suit, in which he charged Mrs. Thelma Goodell, 23, with cruel and abusive treatment, was heard two weeks ago and Goodell wept on the stand when he testified to her leaving him with the statement that she was in love with Frederick Newcomb Phillips, Marblehead lobsterman.

Goodell testified that once he pecked in a window of his home and saw his red-haired wife in the lobsterman's arms.

On other occasions, the husband said, he caught her seated on his uncle's lap and embracing him. Also, he said, he caught her petting with her own uncle.

F. D. on Mystery Trip Off Florida

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2 (AP)—President Roosevelt left Washington by train today on a trip which is expected to take him first to Miami and some other Florida port and then there into the Caribbean Sea for an inspection cruise of defense facilities.

Before his departure, Stephen T. Ely, White House secretary, told reporters he could not disclose the President's destination but added that it was "pretty well known" where Mr. Roosevelt was going.

Early said the President planned to be away from the capital until the week beginning Dec. 16 "unless some emergency demands his return earlier."

Official sources said preparations were being made at Miami for the President to embark on a warship for a swing into the Caribbean defense area. He is expected to combine his favorite sport of fishing with visits to fortifications.

England Bans All Fruit But Oranges

LONDON, Dec. 2 (AP)—Imports of all fresh fruit except oranges were banned for Great Britain today in order to conserve shipping space for the war effort.

Lord Woolton, the Food Minister, announcing the ban, also forecast a shortening of bacon rations. The fruit restrictions will not affect canned fruit.

picked up from the S. S. Lady Glanely, 5487-ton British steamer, about 3:15 a. m. (EST). She was among at least three British vessels which first reported trouble.

BIG SHIPS SINKING

One Yugoslav ship, the 1973-ton Cetvrti, reported she was attacked by aircraft.

The 12,247-ton Victor Ross, owned by the British Mexican Petroleum Co., radioed a submarine had torpedoed her about 400 miles west of Dublin.

The 4055-ton British steamer Loch Ranza reported she was torpedoed and sinking about 400 miles west of northern Ireland. She reported she had the shipwrecked crew of another vessel aboard.

The 276-ton British trawler Kilgerran Castle radioed she was being bombed 25 miles southwest of Kinsalehead, Ireland.

An unidentified vessel, possibly one which previously reported itself in distress, signaled she was in trouble about 450 miles west of the north Irish coast.

OTHER S O S CALLS

Mackay radio also reported other calls as follows:

The first call came at 10:15 o'clock last night, when the Poros head radio station said the 5497-ton British steamer Lady Glanely had been torpedoed. At 11:53 p. m., the Valencia radio station said a British ship giving the call letters G-K-L-F was being attacked.

At 12:45 a. m. today, the 5448-ton British freighter Goodleigh radioed she had been torpedoed.

Mackay intercepted another call at 2:35 a. m. from a vessel apparently giving her name as "S.S. Victoria" and reporting she had been torpedoed.

100 Naval Reserves Ordered Out Here

Under the command of Ensign John Dean, U. S. N. R., a former captain of the Harvard football team, 100 Navy Reservists of the 13th Division were ordered to report for service today.

They were scheduled to assemble at the Naval Reserve armory at Lynn, and were to leave for Boston to board the Eastern Steamship liner Acadia which will take them to the U. S. S. Harry Lee, a transport.

Navy Faces Turn Red After Offer to Sell 'Ocean Tub'

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2 (AP)—The Navy was somewhat embarrassed today.

In a list of ships released for sale the auxiliary vessel Navajo was classed as "ocean tub." Red-faced officers hastily assured questioners that the classification should have read "ocean tug."

Knox in Plea to F. D. To Boost Navy Pay

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2 (AP)—Secretary Knox reported to President Roosevelt today that the Navy's emergency expansion of its shore establishment, to meet the needs of an expanded Navy afloat, had "emphasized the inadequacy of existing storage facilities."

This situation is being relieved, Knox added in his annual report so far as available funds permit.

Knox said the statutory authority for negotiating fee contracts had accelerated "the expeditious provision of these urgently needed shore facilities so essential to the national defense."

Structures will be completed months earlier, he said, than they could have been under competitive bidding.

ASKS NAVY PAY BOOST

At the same time he called for higher pay for the Navy, declaring that "the present inadequate pay is occasioning discomfort and hardship."

The Secretary added that "to the credit of the service, the morale and efficiency remain high, nevertheless fairness and equity warrant a proper adjustment of the pay schedules."

Navy pay now ranges from $21 a month for new seamen to $2100 a year for ensigns, the lowest ranking officers, plus rent and subsistence allowances, and $8000 plus allowances for rear admirals.

Meanwhile, he said, "the pay of federal and state officials has largely increased and standards of civilian pay and wages have advanced."

BOSTON DRY DOCK IMPROVED

He said the Navy would soon have greatly improved docking facilities on the West Coast.

Progress has been made, he continued, in improving and extending shipbuilding facilities at all of the industrial navy yards, "urgently needed to provide for repair and new construction." Important facilities are being provided at the South Boston naval drydock, he said, to effect repair of ships being overhauled there.

FINNS PUT OFF DEBT

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2 (INS)—"Due to present difficulties," Finland, only World War debtor to meet all installments to the United States, will postpone its $23,398 payment due Dec. 15, the State Department said today.

GOEBBELS SEES VICTORY

appointed ambassador to the French government at Vichy, arrived today from Puerto Rico aboard the liner Boniquen. He planned to leave immediately for Washington to confer with President Roosevelt, Secretary of State Hull and William C. Bullitt, former ambassador to France.

Informed of a report he might be shifted to London after a short stay at Vichy in succession to former Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy, Leahy said:

"That is all news to me. I don't know where that came from."

George Holland Scoop

Related acknowledgment that Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy had resigned his post to Britain came as no surprise today to readers of the Boston Evening American's columnist George Holland.

Holland predicted Kennedy's resignation six days before it happened, called it just as it eventually did happen, and even announced what new job was in store for him.

On Nov. 1, Holland wrote: EXCLUSIVE: Joe Kennedy's resignation becomes effective "as of" Nov. 6 . . . But the announcement may be deferred.

Not content, Holland on Nov. 8 went further when he wrote: HOME-COMING AMBASSADOR JOSEPH P. KENNEDY'S denials that he has resigned the ambassadorship would seem to make it more colorful than wise to announce (unofficially, of course) that he has accepted the job of bossing the country's defense effort . . . But here goes: He has.

SKIER BEATS UP YOUTH

Beaten severely with skills by a man who accused him of throwing snowballs, Leo Flynn, 20, of Peter Parley rd., Jamaica Plain, was in Forest Hills Hospital today suffering from brain concussion

KENNEDY FORMALLY QUILTS JOB

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2 (AP)—Joseph P. Kennedy, retiring ambassador to Great Britain, paid farewell calls at the State Department today and said:

"I'm out of a job now and off the payroll here."

Kennedy, who announced his resignation last night, said he had wound up his business at the State Department and was leaving at once by air for Palm Beach, Fla., for a vacation.

Although he said the President had asked him to retain the title of ambassador until a successor was appointed, Kennedy explained that he was "off the payroll" and would no longer function unless the State Department needed his services in some capacity in connection with British relations.

IN ACCORD WITH F. D. R.

Stephen T. Early, presidential secretary, was asked at his press conference today whether a rather government job was in prospect for Kennedy.

"I don't see anything like that in the picture right now," Early replied.

The presidential secretary added that Mr. Roosevelt had had "a very pleasant and very agreeable chat with Joe" yesterday and, replying to another question, said there was "no disagreement" between the chief executive and Kennedy.

QUIT BEFORE BULLITT

Kennedy's resignation, which had been in the President's hands since Nov. 6, predated by a single day that of William C. Bullitt as ambassador to France. John Cudahy resigned last Thursday as ambassador to Belgium.

At present the United States has only two ambassadors at their posts abroad, Laurence A. Steinhardt in Soviet Russia and Alexander Weddell in Spain.

Castle Says U. S. Has 50-50 Chance of Staying out

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 2 (INS)—The United States has only a 50-50 chance of staying out of the war, William R. Castle, former ambassador to Japan, said here today.

"We ought not to get involved in this war," Castle said, "but people have lost their heads a little bit. The William / Ben White committee to defend America by aiding the allies, with enormous funds and tremendous publicity, has been making us feel that England comes first."

"I think America comes first." From now on, however, he promised, Americans "are going to hear the other side."

Ambassador Kennedy, he said, resigned so that he could make the country realize that it has no business in the war. His influence will be great."

British Bombers Again Smash U-Boat Yards

LONDON, Dec. 2 (AP)—British bombers raided the German navy's shipbuilding yards at the naval base of Wilhelmshaven last night,
the air ministry announced today.
Germany's shipyards, especially those in which submarines are believed to be under construction, have been the targets for several British raids recently.

Aux aircraft were reported in the vicinity of Liverpool this afternoon.

The British Press Association reported that at least two German raiders were shot down today in air battles which raged over the channel and along the southeast coast after British fighters intercepted squadrons of Messerschmitt 109s.

British bombers, meanwhile, attacked objectives at Lorient and Brest in France and also in Norway and Denmark, the air ministry said.

London had a "two alert" night, the first all clear coming fairly early and the second soon after midnight. The alert periods were marked by heavy anti-aircraft barrages.

The capital had three daylight alarms Sunday and numerous air battles were reported over the channel and the southeast coast.

The British said eight German planes and five British were shot down during the day. All British pilots were reported safe.

Nazis Smash at London, Liverpool, Birmingham

BERLIN, Dec. 2 (AP)—While bombs of all sizes were being dumped on Southampton overnight,
DNB, official German news agency, said today, other Nazi air formations were smashing at London,
Liverpool and Birmingham.

In London, the agency said, supply facilities were hit and new fires were observed. Aerial mine-laying also continued, it declared.

Southampton, one of England's finest harbors, was for the second successive night the major Nazi objective.

In a report to emphasize a staggering blow had been struck there, DNB said Nazi scouting planes, in clear weather over the southern harbor today, observed a constant bombing of smoke stacks with tranches of flame often leaping through the tops of smoke chimneys. The type of smoke chimneys indicated heavy damage to oil reservoirs.

Squadrons of planes hummed about facilities, docks and industrial plants in the port and also intercepted anti-air service between Southampton and London, the official German news agency said.

Canadian Troops May Be Hurlled on Italy

LONDON, Dec. 2 (AP)—Canadian troops may soon be thrown into Britain's increasingly important campaign in the North African theater, military observers predicted today.

The British troops are used among so hammer striking in the Allies' armies and these observers expressed the belief they would be confronted in the Mediterranean sector in an effort to knock out Italy.

Retreating Italian Offices Executed

LONDON, Dec. 2 (INS)—A series of executions are being carried out among Italian officers and troops as a result of the disorderly retreat in Greece, the London Evening Standard said today.

Quoting Athens newspaper Acropolis, the standard said the victims included "many officers."
It was assumed the executions had been ordered by the Italian high command.

Italy Claims New High-Altitude Planes Ready

MILAN, Italy, Dec. 2 (AP)—
New high-altitude planes which the Fascist press says will revolutionize air fighting are being turned out by airplane factories
throughout Italy, Secondo Campini, the inventor, said today.

In an interview in the newspaper Corriere della Sera, Campini corrected a report published yesterday by Il Popolo di Roma, which described his work as a motorless, propellerless craft shot through the air by gas.

The plane takes off with an ordinary motor and an ordinary propeller, Campini said, but in flight its power is increased four times by a new gas chamber developing its power from air heat and compressed by the regular motors.

pared to restore order in strife-ridden Rumania unless the Ru-manians get busy.

The last section was reported to be looting and satisfying personal vengeances under the protection of hastily-donned green shirts.

Wearers of the Green Shirt, who numbered 6000 two months ago, now number more than 200,000,
with a greater part of the sudden increase made by indiscriminate recruiting and self-appointment of members, including most of the underworld of Bucharest and other large cities and inmates of hastily emptied prisons.

Confusion as to who was following whom, with the army unable to decide whom to support or how to distinguish between Green Shirts, made it probable, reports said, that the German armed forces would take an even stronger stand.

Hundreds Slain Fleeing Iron Guard Terrorism

BUDAPEST, Dec. 2 (INS)—
Dodging rifle fire from Rumanian
Iron Guard forces, hundreds of refugees from Rumanian Iron Guard terrorism have paddled in crowded, half-swamped canoes across the Danube river into Bulgaria, according to reports in Budapest today.

Tireful stories poured into this city, telling of men, women and children, terrified by Iron Guard violence, climbing through windows in their nightclothes to escape raving bands of the Green Shirts and then crossing the river in tiny craft.

Many of the refugees who left their homes and most of their possessions in the dead of night were said to have been killed by Rumanian border guards as they sought sanctuary.

Others drowned as their unseaworthy craft capsize in the river rapids. Those who survived owed their lives to the darkness. Penniless and hungry, those who reached the Bulgarian shore were placed under charge of Bulgarian authorities. Many of the refugees were government employees, and many were Jews.

14 STAR BROADCAST SPURS YULE SHIP GIFTS

EVENING AMERICAN, MONDAY, DECEMBER 2, 1940

Hundreds in Pledge To Speed Donations

England in the matter of shipping airplanes and munitions.

"But on this question, of giving through the British Yule Ship, clothing and footwear to help the women and children through the rigors of winter, there can be no dispute," he declared.

"This is not a question of political belief, nor of neutrality, nor of expediency."

"It is one of simple human charity that the requirements of morality demand and should be extended from the fortunate to the unfortunate."

"... May I, in conclusion, express to the Boston American and my fellow donors my profound thanks for the wonderful work that they are accomplishing in the Yule Ship. I know that the people of Massachusetts, always kindly and unselfish, are going to make Christmas happier for the in England who will not only help but have a cheerless too."

SPEAK FOR SOCIETY

Speaking for the British War Relief Society, with whose approval and hearty cooperation this movement was launched, was Robert W. Mortimore, chairman of the Greater Boston Committee.

"There are a large number of families in Britain today who are victims of bombing outrages," he declared. "In many cases, in fact, most cases, these bombings leave them without a home and with only the clothes they stand up in."

"This makes warm clothing

ROBERT W. MORTIMORE
"There Are Many Homeless"

one of their urgent needs. For this reason the Greater Boston Committee of the British War Relief Society wishes to express to the Hearst newspapers here in Boston and to the people of New England their heartfelt thanks and sincere appreciation for making it possible for these much-needed warm clothes to be sent to Britain.

"It seems particularly appropriate during this Christmas season, symbolical of good-will and friendship, that New England should be so active to help Old England, whose slogan is 'We Shall Not Fail!' and by this kind action of yours will realize that your Christmas wish to them is, 'We Shall Not Fail You!'"

CHAIRMAN GRATUIT.
The message from Christmas Ship headquarters was delivered by Edward J. Rhatigan, business manager of the Boston Hearst papers and executive chairman of campaign committee.

"This all-star radio hour, in which so many noted artists have given freely of their time and talents, is typical of the warm-hearted and generous reception given everywhere to our appeal for clothing," he said.

"The wholehearted co-operation of Harold E. Fellows, the Columbia Broadcasting System, and the entire staff of WEEI, in making this broadcast possible, is also deeply appreciated."

"As chairman of the volunteer committee, which are working day and night in this cause, I am humbly and deeply grateful for all that has been done thus far and will be done in the next fortnight."

"More than one thousand centers have been established throughout Massachusetts and in other states to receive and collect parcels of winter clothing for the homeless civilians abroad."

"But still we need more help, more workers, more clothing to fill our Christmas Ship. This magnificent beginning must be carried on."

Help us fill this Christmas Ship for England. For whatever part you play, great or small, you will have in your hearts on Christmas Day the deep, spiritual satisfaction of knowing that if there cannot be peace on earth, there is still good will among men."

ARRAY OF STARS

Famed stars of stage and radio generously gave of their time and talents for the all-star broadcast. Ruby Newman and Sammy Davis spelled each other in directing the famous Ruby Newman society orchestra of 20 pieces. Radio favorites "Hum and Strum" offered a novelty bit and Baritone Bill Elliott sang the stirring "Song of the Vagabonds."

Dorothy Gish and Louis Calhern, of the hit show "Life With Father," did a sophisticated and clever specialty.

Sheila Barrett, currently at Versailles Restaurant, brought tears to the eyes of the studio audience with "The Last Waltz," written especially for this broadcast.

Pert Kelton of "All in Fun" offered a unique comic sketch, while Bill "Bojangles" Robinson, assisted by Nancy Noel and Bill Johnson of the "All in Fun" cast, scored a hit with "Where Can I Go Without You?" a novel vocal and tap dance number. If it were not radio, with limited time, there would have been encore after encore.

Marvin Bowman, managing editor of the Boston Sunday Advertiser, an amateur in professional company, was himself a hit as he sang "The Harp Weaver" to music of Ruby Newman's violins and a harp.

It was a great show. And it must have had a tremendous audience from the number of persons answering the Christmas Ship appeal which was issued during the broadcast.

The broadcast was arranged through the courtesy of Harold E. Fellows, New England manager of Columbia Broadcasting System, Lloyd G. Del Castello and staff of WEEI and George Gibbs, president of the American Federation of Musicians, Local No. 9 of Boston.

From his office in Auburn, Me.,

Here's What Britons Need For Clothing

Here are types of clothing needed by bombed, homeless civilians in England, as suggested by Robert W. Mortimore, chairman of the Greater Boston Committee of the British War Relief Society, Inc. It makes no difference whether the sizes are for babies, children, adults, so long as the donations are warm and serviceable.

Shoes, low and high, and boot. Stockings and socks.

Underwear.

Woolen shirts.

Sweaters, long sleeved or sleeveless.

Suits, trousers, skirts, jackets, matched or unmatched.

Macjackets, overcoats, topcoats, capes.

Caps, hats, stocking-caps (no women's fancy hats).

Mittens, gloves, wristers.

Mufflers (wool or flannel).

Nightclothing (wool or flannel).

Faincoats, rubbers, overshoes.

Blankets.

All kinds of baby woollen things.

(It is only stressed that new things are desirable, and if used articles are donated that they be cleaned or cleaned and pressed.)

Charles O. Weeman, state department commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars placed his "100 per cent endorsement" on the CHRISTMAS SHIP plan and issued instructions for his aides to bring it immediately to the attention of every V. F. W. post in the entire state of Maine.

Commander James Doyle, of the New Hampshire state department of the American Legion, issued a statewide appeal for Legionnaires to co-operate in the great charity drive and threw open doors of every Legion post and home in the state to be used as receiving stations.

Only a few days remain before the CHRISTMAS SHIP must leave Boston on its perilous journey, if young hearts and saddened hearts in London and England are to be gladdened at Christmas by the thought that charity and fraternity still live in a world torn by hatred and war.

A CHRISTMAS SHIP FOR ENGLAND Headquarters are at 100 and 72 Summer st., Boston, near Devonshire st. They are open daily from 8:30 a. m. to 9:30 p. m., Sundays from noon to 9:30 p. m. For information on collections of clothing, call LiBERTY 2548, 2544, 2548.

Greeks Seize 5000 Italians as Prisoners

Athens, operations were developing "successfully" eight miles beyond Koritza, where a continued Greek attack dislodged fresh Italian reinforcements fighting rearward actions.

Authorized Grecian military sources said that along the entire front from the sea to lake Ochrid "Greek troops are chasing the enemy with utmost tenacity." They added:

"Despite heavy snow, our troops stormed virtually inaccessible crests, made almost impregnable by reinforced concrete defenses, while in the south new reinforcements of crack Italian regiments are fleeing rapidly, leaving behind artillery and machine guns."

"On the left wing we took positions of great value. Air activity was difficult, but our planes played havoc with Italian supply columns."

Rome Claims Greek Corps Is Repulsed

ROME, Dec. 2 (AP)—Violent attacks by an entire Greek army coups, preceded by artillery fire, were beaten back by Fascist troops holding defensive lines in Albania, the Italian high command reported today.

Its communique said an Italian colonel was killed leading his regiment into battle.

British planes were said to have bombed several islands in the Italian Dodecanese group in the eastern Mediterranean.

The British also were said to have bombed Kassala, in the Sudan; Buao, Somaliland; Metemma, Libya, and Assab, Eritrea.

New China Loan Gets Senate O. K.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2 (AP)—Members of the Senate Banking and House Coinage Committees gave an unanimous vote of approval today to a transaction by which the United States will advance the Chinese Chungking government $100,000,000.

FIND MORE GUESTS THAN EVER BEFORE NOW PREFER WINE

WINES OF CALIFORNIA FOR GOOD TASTE

IS THERE A CHANGE in hospitality customs today? Well-known hosts and hostesses say so. It's come about, they report, because so many people now prefer a moderate beverage.

Perhaps you've noticed it yourself. How many men and women now choose Sherry at appetizer time. Or a delicious sweet wine at afternoon or evening affairs. Or a good table wine with the main course at dinner.

Try it next time you entertain. Give each guest at your house a chance to select wine. See how this considerate hospitality is appreciated.

TIPS ON SERVING WINE

AN APPETIZER WINE

like Sherry is best before dinner. Sherry is amber, mellow in flavor. This good wine promises a good dinner to follow. It is usually served in a cocktail-size glass.

TABLE WINES

go best with meals. They are made "dry" (not sweet) to complement food. Try tart, red Claret or Burgundy wine; delicate, golden Sauterne or Chablis (well chilled)... In servings half water glass size.

SWEET WINES

go best with refreshments and desserts. They are made rich with the natural sweetness of the grape. Try red Port or golden Muscatel, served in a small glass.

170,000 Artillery Vets Plan to Organize

Extensive plans to organize some 170,000 World War veterans of the United States coast artillery into another veteran organization took definite shape today after organizational officers met at Hotel Essex.

Drawing up part of the constitution and by-laws, the officers gave form to an idea which started at an American Legion convention in Los Angeles two years ago.

Peeper Only An Inquisitive Squantum Pony

A fine place Squantum was to have the heebies in today's dawn.

When Police Lieut. John Casey received a telephone call at Quincy police headquarters from a man who said some beast was peeping in his window the lieutenant resignedly hung up. Rye is as potent in Quincy as elsewhere.

But when three or four similar calls came from other persons, the lieutenant concluded all Squantum residents couldn't be seeing things and he sent a cruiser car.

And sure enough—there was Henry R. Jewett's pony, ambling about the Shore Acres section, peering into bedroom windows in very friendly fashion. The pony had slipped its halter and roamed out of its stable in Sonoma id Squantum—to where it was returned by the officers.

BRITAIN, SPAIN SIGN CASH PACT

MADRID, Dec. 2 (AP)—Britain and Spain signed a financial agreement today designed to free Spanish funds blocked in London and give Spain funds to increase purchases from the British.

The pact was signed in a noon ceremony by Spanish Foreign Minister Ramon Serrano Suner and Sir Samuel Hoare, British ambassador.

400 Attend Shoe Fair Opening

The Boston Shoe Fair's spring showing opened today, with more than 400 shoe manufacturers and several thousand buyers in attendance at Hotel Statler and the Parker House.

On display were a complete line of spring shoes, ranging from volume shoes and slippers at the Statler to the more expensive lines at the Parker House.

The show, which will last through Thursday, is sponsored by the New England Shoe and Leather Association, of which George A. Dempsey is president.

Judge Deland Is Solomon For Girl, Tailor and Coat

A Mattapan tailor, an angry young woman from Roxbury, a carcass fur coat and two lawyers were all sentimentally involved today in West Roxbury Court today with Judge Frank Deland acting as the arbitrator in the case.

Betty Yerkes, 37, of Brunswick st., Roxbury, owner of the $200 coat, had charged Herman H. Her shoff, 50, of Goodale st., Mattapan with larceny, declaring she had left the coat to be remodeled and that he and the coat had vanished from a tailor shop—formerly owned in Hyde Park.

Special Officer John McManis produced both the tailor and the coat, testifying he had had some difficulty a fashion show.

Unimpaired evidence and testimony filled the courtroom. The coat, claimed to be a light blue (the color), the coat because it didn't want to do it.

"My wife just had her fur coat blended in Boston."

Miss Yerkes wanted to know what had become of the brown fur collar on the coat.

Her shoff said:

"You told me to make it into a muff."

"I did not," said Miss Yerkes. "I've got a muff."

The argument then got down to bedrock. Miss Yerkes wanted a $10 deposit back, the tailor said and the $85 worth of work on the coat.

The coat itself was waved back and forth by all hands, and then examined by Judge Deland, who said, "I don't see anything."

The tailor keeps the $10, Miss Yerkes keeps the coat.

After he had changed his plea to guilty, Rev. Karl C. Kanaga, assistant pastor of Mt. Vernon Congregational Church, was fined $100 by Judge Hugh D. McCall in United States District Court today for wilful failure to register for selective service.

He was given two weeks in which to pay the fine.

Kanaga, who was represented by Atty. H. W. Cole, a personal friend attempted to change an original not guilty plea to nolo contendere, but Judge McCall refused to accept the change.

After a brief bench conference the pastor pleaded guilty, and the fine was immediately imposed.

In imposing sentence, Judge McCall said:

"I think this case is not of the type which lends itself to probation and that some penalty must be imposed on the defendant.

"In view of the fact that the defendant has now registered, and in view of his plea of guilty and taking into consideration his financial condition, I think that a fine of $100 should be imposed."

Rev. Mr. Kanaga recently declared that he would rather see Hitler invade England or even this nation than have the United States take up military defense.

Together with the Rev. Harry Howard Krueger, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Kanaga refused to register for selective service on Oct. 16. Both ministers were indicted by a federal grand jury.

Last week Rev. Mr. Krueger, who, like Kanaga, had finally registered, made a lengthy address in federal court, setting forth his position and explaining he had changed his attitude toward the draft. His case was then nolo contendere.

Police Purchase 23 Coupes as Cruisers

A change in Boston's police cruising cars with coupes being substituted for sedans, was announced today when 23 of the new type cars were ordered.

Boston is believed to be the first city in the country to employ coupes as cruisers. Reasons given for the change are that the coupes are lighter, cost less, and will reduce guest riding in cruising cars. The new cars will be painted aluminum and can accommodate three persons if necessary.

By E. V. DURLING

THE United States Senate has finally joined with the House of Representatives in passing the Walter-Logan Bill, a measure subjecting the acts of various Federal agencies to court review.

It is true the Senate approved the bill by a scant majority of two votes, by contrast with the approving House majority of 279 to 97; so the prospect of overriding a possible Presidential veto is left in doubt.

But it is also true that little more than half of the Senate membership was on hand for the vote, so that the fate of a veto must remain purely speculative.

It is to be hoped the President will NOT veto the Walter-Logan Bill.

While the President may not have any affection for the measure, he should respect the decisions of the Congress and acknowledge its sincerity.

He should especially be influenced by the wishes of the people in connection with this legislation, it having been repeatedly and convincingly demonstrated to him that the overwhelming desire of the people is for its enactment.

There is nothing in the Walter-Logan Bill to disturb the President or his Administration in any reasonable powers or policies. It is a simple and essential act of justice to the American people whose rights and privileges may be affected by bureaucratic edict, and who gain by its enactment the fundamental right of judicial review and decision.

Let it be granted that the President does not consider such legislation necessary, that he is confident the bureaucratic agencies he creates and controls will not intrude upon or impair public rights in the manner feared.

Even so granted, why should he resent or resist all possible safeguards of basic democratic processes which the people desire and think necessary?

President Roosevelt has put much stress on the need for national unity in meeting the problems of these extraordinary times, and properly so.

THE BLUNT WARNING by Senator Hiram Johnson of California that any effort to repeal the Johnson Act would be vigorously resisted in the Senate has had the healthy result of postponing that effort until the next regular session.

The Johnson Act prohibits American loans or credits to any foreign nation delinquent or in default on World War obligations to the United States.

It was passed at the insistent demand of the American people, has had universal public approval ever since its enactment, and probably has general approval now.

The motivating force beyond the proposed repeal of the Johnson Act is readily identified, since it is frankly concerned with the fact that Great Britain needs American funds in order to conduct the present war successfully.

And of course Great Britain is foremost among those nations in default of World War debts to the United States.

Thus, the debate which will decide the issue of repeal will center, at least partly, on sympathy for Great Britain when it should center wholly on the essential interests of the United States. American sympathies for Great Britain unquestionably run very high. But there is more to be considered than the dire need of England.

Certainly to be considered is the undeniable fact that the United States is already a debt-ridden country in consequence of its reckless and vast depression spending, and now has a national debt of more than fifty billion dollars which unborn generations will be paying for under the most normal conditions.

Surely to be considered also is our own compelling need for defense.

Starting from the base of our present debt, we must spend many billions of dollars for adequate defensive establishments, and of course we must vastly increase our own debt to do so.

RELIEF COSTS have dropped surprisingly during the past year in Massachusetts.

According to State Commissioner Arthur G. Rotch, welfare expenses for the first nine months of 1940 are $900,000 LESS than those of the corresponding period in 1939.

Mr. Rotch attributes the reduction to the restoration of jobs and to the creation of new ones.

He says:

"It is interesting to note that the number of employables on direct relief decreased from 43,376 in 1939 to 36,005 in 1940."

This should interest Tax Commissioner Long, advocate of a Sales Tax scheme to extract an additional $15,000,000 from the people.

Mr. Long has claimed his tax plan is needed to provide more money for relief purposes and to relieve the burden on real estate.

Why MORE money for relief when the recipients are becoming FEWER and are consequently asking LESS?

Apparently Mr. Long spoke too soon, or, at least, before consulting Mr. Rotch.

PUT on your youngster's required list the keeping of a scrap-book of his activities. He will thank you for it in later years. Had a lot of fun last night looking over my old scrapbook. Noted a college paper account of my first varsity baseball game. Box score showed I accepted 20 chances without an error in a nine-inning game. The reporter, undoubtedly a sophomore, wrote: "Freshman Durling fielded all right but did not get a hit." How is that for faint praise? Twenty chances without an error in a nine-inning game is very near the record. The upper classmen certainly believed in keeping freshmen in their places in those days.

"SADDEST SOULS on earth are those born in the sign of Sagittarius," says Norvell, Hollywood astrologer. When any Hollywood female Sagittarius gives indication of a desire to marry a man who is not a Leo or an Aries she is immediately strongly advised not to do so by Mr. Norvell. Dorothy Lamour and Betty Grable are Sagittarians who married contrary to the astrologer's advice and regretted it.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN'S gift of brevity was great, but not so great as that of Calvin Coolidge. Lincoln averaged 28 words to a sentence in his speeches; Coolidge only 13 . . . In the garment so described what does E. V. D. stand for? Comes from firm name of original manufacturers, Beverley, Voris and Day . . . Note it spelled "Pittsburg" in a news item. Incorrect, should be Pittsburgh. General Forbes, who in honor of William Pitt, the Elder, changed the name of Fort Duquesne to Pittsburgh always used the "h" at end . . . Rumania had the highest percentage of casualties in the World War. Forty-five per cent of its armed forces died in action. France lost one in every 28 of its male population. Germany, one in 36. Britain was the most fortunate, losing but one in 66 of its men.

WED CONTRARY TO ASTROLOGER'S ADVICE

HOW MANY persons entitled to vote were there who did not vote in the recent presidential election? Never mind answering. But if they were citizens of the Argentine Republic they would have been fined. Down Argentine way every citizen reaching voting age is given a registration number and a voting card. Every vote he casts is recorded. If his card reveals he has not voted at an election he must pay a fine. Not a bad law, at that.

IN ENGLAND now, everybody is at the front; men, women and children. Every citizen is in a much tougher spot, and one requiring more courage and fortitude, than the World War soldiers when in the trenches. Listen to what Major General Hunter Liggett says in his book: "A. E. F." "A soldier soon grows used to shelling, but I never adjusted myself to night bombing. A shell arrives, hits or misses, before you know it, but there is too long an interval of suspense between the threat of a bombing plane and the dumping of its load."

MY DAY

WASHINGTON, Sunday — Yesterday morning I enjoyed the most beautiful exhibition in the Labor Department auditorium. This is the main one in Washington, put on for Art Week. It features not only arts and crafts, made by District of Columbia artists, but contributions from all over the country. There are other exhibitions dotted all around the city. In the procurement division of fine arts, there is a delightful collection of water colors.

I wish I could have seen them all. In the meantime, I bought a number of things which exemplify the variety of exhibits. I was interested to have Mr. Ed Rowan, who is responsible for the hanging of this exhibition, tell me that the names of the artists showed, as they did in Chicago, the great variety of races which make up our cultural background and which have contributed to the development of our civilization.

ON FRIDAY evening Mr. Jerome Davis, who has been appointed by the Y. M. C. A. to take charge of their program in connection with prison and concentration camps in Canada, told us a little of what this work means.

It is not only a humanitarian effort to make the lives of men who live within barbed wire entanglements a trifle more humane, but contributes greatly to the willingness on the part of the Axis nations to allow Y. M. C. A. representatives to do similar work in Germany.

There are some two million people in prison in concentration camps in Germany as against a few hundred thousand in Canada. If good work is done in Canada it gives an opportunity to the representatives serving in Germany to ask for the same type of work to be done in camps in Germany.

IT IS CURIOUS that Mr. Davis, who served in this same capacity during the World War, should find himself confronted with the same problems and be again devoting his life to the same type of work.

Yesterday afternoon I saw some of the most interesting documentary films. We have not come to realize the full value of these films in this country, but gradually we are awakening to their possibilities.

The films which I saw were

"Wings of Youth," "Valley Town," "And So They Live," "Atlantic Patrol," "They Also Serve," "Youth Gets a Break" and "Look to Lockheed for Leadership."

The films should, of course, be distributed through the regular distributors.

We are too apt to be ignorant of both the needs in our communities and the efforts which are being made to meet these needs, and, therefore, these efforts do not receive our whole-hearted support.

SINCLAIR LEWIS' PICKS'
PRESIDENT

By Leonard Lyons

NEW YORK, Dec. 2—Sinclair Lewis is booming Robert M. Hutchins, president of the University of Chicago, as Roosevelt's successor. Lewis visited the Hutchinses in their home and discussed this with Mrs. Hutchins. "Bob is well qualified for the job," he assured her. "With all his experience as a successful administrator he belongs in the White House." "But why should we go there," protested Mrs. Hutchins, "when we already have a swimming pool here?"

JOHN GOLDEN, who is producing "Claudia," lunched at Sardi's and then called for Vincent Sardi, Jr. "I need a young, blonde girl for the lead in my new show," the producer confided. "So many young, blonde actresses come in here all the time. I want you to keep your eyes open and find one for the role of Claudia."

The young restaurateur seemed incredulous. "But I'm serious," Golden assured him. "You pick her—she must be young, blonde and know how to act." Sardi agreed and began his search. Three days later Golden told him: "Well, Vincent, forget about it. I think I've found the girl." "That's wonderful," said the relieved young man. "How'd you ever find her?" "It really wasn't difficult," said Golden. "She's Joan Crawford."

HELEN HAYES, in her first few days of "Twelfth Night," already has experienced the one event which comes to all Shakespeareans. Backstage, the other night, she accidentally stabbed herself. Maurice Evans has made a recording of the beleaguered King's speech in "Richard II," to be broadcast over 250 stations, to aid Britain. Reuters is taking over the South American departments of the old Havas news agency. The Nazis had tried to distribute their own news services to Latin America, explaining that Havas now belongs to the German agencies since the fall of France. But they weren't convinced, and Reuters won. The new outlet will be called L. E. F. Reuters—the "L. E. F." for France's "Liberty, Equality, Fraternity."

DON NELSON and Leon Henderson of the National Defense Council recently discussed the council's activities of the day. "At the council meetings," they were asked, "which of the members presides?" "That's hard to say," Nelson replied, "inasmuch as we have no chairman." "There must be some one officiating," the questioner persisted. "Some one to call the meeting to order, recognize speakers, etc." "Well, put it this way," Henderson explained. "It's run like a basketball game. The ball is tossed into the air, at the opening—and then everybody scrambles for it."

JOE KENNEDY brought to the White House a confidential report on Britain's economy. He was startled to discover that the President already had a more thorough report on that subject—from his own Defense Commission. Book-of-the-Month Club recommended M. Lincoln Schuster's new book about the world's greatest letters, which Simon & Schuster published. And so when they asked Schuster to what he attributes the book's success, he confessed: "To the fact that I picked a good publisher." Ernest Hemingway and his bride, Martha Gellhorn, are in town.

GEOFFREY HELLMAN, who writes Profiles for magazines, is in Washington preparing a Profile on President Roosevelt. Last week a magazine published Hellman's Profile of William Saroyan. Saroyan had been under the impression that the manuscript would be shown to him, before publication, for inaccuracies. It wasn't shown to him. And so he immediately dispatched a 5000-word telegram enumerating those passages which he felt were inaccurate. He sent those 5000 words collect. Fortunately for the magazine's bank account, Saroyan also was guilty of inaccuracy. He sent the wire to another magazine.

COURAGE: Tuesday night's audience at the National Theater cheered Emyln Williams' "The Corn Is Green"—the finest play of the season. Ethel Barrymore, who stars in it, portrays a lady of great courage who sets out to bring schooling to the children in a Welsh mining village.

MONDAY MUSINGS. Boston College-Holy Cross Night has taken its place with the Harvard-Yale Night of yesteryear. . . . When the Ivy League ruled the football roost, it used to be wise to make reservations for the hotels and nightclubs a long time in advance. . . . Friday past was a gala night in the gay spots. . . . and Saturday—B. C. H. C. Football Night—was a whepper.

FOR THAT MATTER—Thanksgiving week of 1940 will be remembered fondly by most of the nightclub proprietors, as well as many of the restaurants which do not serve entertainment with the food. . . . Dinty Moore's broke all records for a single day Thanksgiving. . . . Sheila Barrett broke all records for a week at the onetime Southland, now the Versailles.

IMPROVEMENT IN GENERAL has been steady, if the usually reliable barometers formed by the theater and nightclubs are working accurately. . . . Conversely—and this is a matter of surprise—the new churning of the wheels of industry has not helped the gambling business a bit.

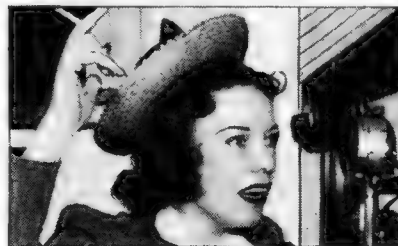

A NOTABLE FALLING OFF of business at the local tracks in the waning days of the long season. . . . Now, the bookmakers report that "play" has not been as heavy as in past years. . . . One explanation, furnished by an astute member of the odds-making fraternity, has it that this seeming phenomenon is no phenomenon at all.

MANY A TWO-DOLLAR wager—says he—is a "desperation bet." . . . It's the search for the pot of gold, superinduced or inspired by the bettor's decision that what he has is not enough, and that what he may get WILL be enough (to pay the grocer, the milkman, or even the rent. . . .) As a community's payroll becomes more heavy, and constant, not so many persons are tempted to "reach" for a longshot. . . . They have the necessary funds to meet their weekly obligations, and the urge to make a "hit" is lessened.

SOME OF THOSE PENALTIES so freely handed out in the Boston College-Holy Cross battle may be detectable in the motion pictures of the game on show in the Metropolitan, Paramount and Fenway theaters. . . . The entire game will be screened, excluding, of course, such time-consuming interludes as times-out and huddles. . . . The running-time of the picture will be not much more than half an hour.

And has anybody congratulated Colonel Dave Egan on the Sugar Bowl award to his "Cinderella team," Boston College? . . . The Colonel adopted Frank Leahy and his boys a few games after the Florida defeat in 1939. . . . Steve Brodsky, Boston sales-manager for Monogram pictures, has been moved (up) to the New York job of sales director.

WITH BOSTON'S WATERFRONT in the midst of a traffic boom, what possible reason exists for the dreary Boston "El" structure remaining standing? . . . An important traffic artery, Atlantic Avenue, is clogged by the structure. . . . The "El" has abandoned the stations the structure served. . . . Atlantic Avenue cannot be modernized, or developed, until the Iron heap comes down. . . . The horrible downtown congestion of traffic could be relieved considerably if Atlantic Avenue was made more passable by demolishing the structure.

AUDREY CHRISTIE

AUDREY CHRISTIE'S versatility as an actress comes to the fore by her presence in the leading feminine role of "Hiya, Gentlemen," which opens tomorrow at the Colonial. . . . Miss Christie played in "Return Engagement" at the Copley Theater, a few weeks ago. . . . She quit that show (a drama) when the chance to join a musical was presented. . . . But Audrey, in the past, showed her competence by following a success in "Sailor, Beware," a comedy, with a hit in "She Loves Me Not," a musical.

Hollywood Today

SIGNED TO WRITE
BIGGEST REVUE

By Louella O. Parsons

Irving Berlin

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 2—Biggest news ever the weekend is that Irving Berlin has been signed by Paramount to write the most elaborate musical ever produced on that lot to star Bing Crosby and Mary Martin. Not only is Irving in charge of the words and music—but it's up to him to think up the title of the picture, too—probably inspired by the hit tune.

So eager is Para to get the best show Irving ever wrote they're giving him a year's time for inspiration to set in. The picture won't be started until next November.

Mark Sandrich will produce and direct the Berlin epic and will be in constant touch with him about the story and general idea of filming.

It's Para's idea to use every singing star they can beg, borrow or steal for this one and as contracts are signed Berlin will be notified so he can concoct special numbers. This is an unusual move, do you must admit.

MARY MARTIN

Wouldn't be surprised if Rex isn't interested in Mexican movie making; Virginia Field and George Raft, in riding habits in the early morning, window shopping on Wilshire boulevard before the stores opened.

RUTH FORAN left for New York over the week-end and from there she goes to South America to spend most of the winter with friends; Bob Stack's big interest at the Palladium is Connie Haines, who sings with the band; Alice Faye is Carmen Miranda's greatest admirer. She plays her records constantly on the set.

THE HOUSE OF MURPHY adds never recognize Lana Turner when she walks in with Tony Martin. She wears her hair in a different way every night. Jackie Coogan, not discouraged by his rebuff from Canadian flying authorities when he wanted to enlist, is going to start a flying school.

ALBERT BASSERMAN, none too happy in Hollywood, has bought a play "Who's Who, and How to do it on Broadway." Irene Rich entertained the Wall Flats at their anniversary dinner last week.

EVER SINCE "Dispatch From Reuters," Edward G. Robinson has been just about the most popular actor in Hollywood with the newspaper men. That's one newspaper picture that showed the press as it really is and deserves the big box-office success it has had. How different from the usual false picture of drunken reporters and high tempered managing editors.

So it's interesting indeed to learn that Eddie's next will be, "The Man They Couldn't Kill," a comedy by Sidney Biddell and Frederick Frank. It's about a movie actor who has played so many gangster roles he has a mental lapse and honestly believes he's a badman.

COLUMNIST LOUIS SOBOL and Frank Donlevy have been good friends ever since Frank was at Lakeside "The High Hatters" years ago. So it is not surprising that when Louis sent Brian a script of his newest movie (which he wrote with Quentin Reynolds) he said he wanted him to star in it.

It is based on the exploits of the late Floyd Goetz which would certainly add up to plenty of high adventure. Donlevy turned the story over to Y. Frank Freeman who is equally interested and he may buy the yarn if it's possible to work it into Brian's schedule for next year.

Sheila Barrett Stars In Show at Versailles

By SAM BERENSON

On the local scene, by all means make a date for door-tapping at the Versailles, at which smart spot the equally chic Sheila Barrett is holding throngs spellbound . . . in our opinion, this capable lady ranks as one of the brightest stars in the after-dark heavens, and her mimicry plus a trimly-balanced show earns the Versailles a MUST for the week.

Similarly does the Cocoanut Grove beckon with a sleekly colorful revue . . . a bangup show with many a club "name" . . . further inducement, if necessary, is the lovely presence of Nancy Gay, new thrush with the Alpert band . . . this gal from Texas has already caught the hearts of patrons hereat . . . and she, in turn, thinks Bostonians are "simply swell, euh."

At the Hurricane, a dozen conga belles who teach the conga, lush tropical atmosphere and a hilarious conga contest now in progress, are three highlights that make the Cambridge club a delightful taken for an evening of fun and enjoyment. A visit there is like a trip on a magic carpet to the delightful South Sea Isles. Music is in the Latin manner and food is especially delectable.

Action swirls into the colorful Latin Quarter this week with the debut of Cardinal, the master manipulator of cards, whose genius in legerdemain ranks him as one of the season's greatest attractions . . . star billing likewise to Fanny the Horse, the best show bet off a racetrack . . . held over Shirley and Olsen complete a banner revue . . . The Quarter favorites and Bruno Candullo rhythms . . . It's whispered that Harry Spear is to remain for the season, so well does Lou Walters like his work . . . Joe Candullo is being paraded at the Latin Quarter Tuesday evening, after which he takes his band and healing leg to Miami . . . Dancing feet lead to the tropical Beechamber where that rumba rhythm-man, Socarras, holds sway with his flute and his band . . . and the dance again takes the spotlight, for Tommy Maren is offering the stay-up set the tops in Cuban dancing gals . . . a grand place for your calling, intimate, gay, atmospheric . . . Lolita Moya, Beechamber dancer, portrays delightfully, several authentic Spanish dances to lend added brightness to the revue.

Izzy Ort, the Billy Rose of Essex st., copy admits that business is so flourishing at his Essex-appealing parlor that he considers it a tactical mistake on the part of the railroad not to have a depot beneath his bill . . . and Izzy, taking time off from showing a Cuban dancer three new rumba steps, likewise contemplates a current show which would snack the town open . . . a load of color, swell music, and a goodly slice of the tropics in the El Tropic Room.

Bossman Joe Wagelbach of the Lawrence Hofman shows us this A. M. that this week's show is one of the best he has presented this season . . . Jay's band, and action zipping through the 24-hour production . . . you can well take Joe's word.

Jerry Lester, sparkling star of the Shuberts' "All in Fun," is doubling this week at the Mayfair, thus giving a slick top-top to our starry Mayfair program . . . Lester, in many a case, is playing to duplicate audiences, since this talented comic has caught the town's fancy . . . the Rannie Weeks' music . . . Dorothy Stone and Charles Collins, musical comedy stars, open at the Mayfair Wednesday evening. Dorothy is one of Fred Stone's daughters . . . The popularity of the Blue Room, smart scene of the Hotel Westminister, increases . . . for patrons here-at are even in for an interesting evening. Adrian O'Brien stars here . . . Count Essie and MCA have set their differences . . . and the Count, lately working with Benny Goodman on late-night stands, now rejoins his own band.

Harry Cook, Canadian ping pong champion, and Lew Lowry, New England table tennis champ, will display their prowess this coming week at Elsinor. To make things more interesting, the boys are willing to meet all comers. It's rated next to hockey for speed and fun . . . The new Marine Lounge at Cain's Lobster House in Weymouth opens Friday . . . Folks who have peeped in declare it to be the South Shore's loveliest spot - beautiful tropical murals, soft lights and lush modernistic comfort are some of the new embellishments . . . Art Rubin's music a feature at the Shoe Style show at the Statler tonight . . . Cappy's North Easton spot remains the same gay, cheerful rendezvous under the snows of winter as it did during the summer . . . with the only noticeable difference in that host Cappy more and more emphasizes better entertainment . . . Eddie "Music Queen" Round Delano has parted ways with Lombardi to head his own 14-piece crew.

Ada Bullock retains its ranking position as a smart supper spot . . . tastily prepared foods with a delightfully wide selection make this the No. 1 rendezvous for many starry Mayfair programs . . . Lester, in many a case, is playing to dupli-

"I wuz

by Izzy Ort

Whee! I'm still trying to get my breath back after taking in the terrific BC-HC game Saturday afternoon! What thrills! I've just popped back from visiting Ruby Foo, who is one of my favorite people. Ruby had a pre-venue for the press of her new one month-old grandson, Richard Jet Frey Shong, who is quite a kid, already yet! Such food there was! I took a running dive into "egg fuyee yunk" or something like that and—bang! there went my diet that I paid fancy prices for!

Which reminds me that up in my El Tropic Room, my Oriental chef, Willy Wong, has something tasty called "Moo Goo Gai Pan," which isn't baby talk, but good food.

Oh yah! Sheila Barrett popped in the other night with George Clark and stayed a mere three hours. They had a great time!

I wuz at Shanley's gent-e. pool parlors at 615 Washington st. to see a piece of the world's pocket billiard tournament in progress there. Saw Joe Prochia, Boston challenger, run up a night's high of 93 and out. There's another session this coming Thursday.

Did I serve dinners Thanksgiving! There wasn't enough left over for soup. Everybody had a bun of bird in my Grill.

The Lane Trio has been doing so terrific in the El Tropic Room that I'm holding them over. Two girls and a boy, they're slightly less than colossal! Neat music by Chick Harris every day in the Grill.

Twenty days left for Christmas shopping and every afternoon and night for a visit to my Grill on Essex st. Stumble over tonight and say hello and have a good time—Adv.

By BETTY ALDEN

ARISTOCRATIC Bostonians turned out in large numbers for the wedding of Polly Gardiner and Drayton Phillips, son of the U. S. Ambassador to Italy, in the Church of the Redeemer Saturday afternoon. . . . The little stone church looked very picturesque nestled in the now and, since there was no canopy, bystanders had a perfect opportunity to see the bride and her handsome father as they walked from their living room up a 200-foot red carpet which was placed over the snow from street to side entrance. . . .

The inside of the edifice was softly lighted by tall candelabras on the altar and small candles set in Christmas greens on each window ledge. . . . The pews were tied with clusters of Easter lilies and a profusion of the same fragrant flowers banked the altar.

In contrast to the church, where extra chairs were placed at the back to accommodate the many fashionable guests, Mrs. Larz Anderson's palatial home provided a spacious setting for the reception. . . . It was large and roomy enough for guests to visit around and admire not only the radiant bride but all the beautiful art objects which Mrs. Anderson and her late husband have collected through many years of world travelling. . . .

SMILING HAPPILY after their marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Drayton Phillips drive away from the Church of the Redeemer to their wedding reception at the home of Mrs. Larz Anderson, cousin of the bride. Mrs. Phillips is the former Polly Gardiner. The bridegroom is the son of U. S. Ambassador to Italy, William Phillips.

Many Distinguished Guests

THE BRIDAL PARTY received in the conservatory, which was banked with chrysanthemums. . . . Among the many guests who extended their best wishes were Mrs. B. Preston Cutler, with her daughter, Dorothy Preston, who wore a modish slate gray hat piled high with colorful flowers, a mink coat and dark gray dress; Mrs. Charles Hovey, whose tiny blue feather toque was tied to her blonde hair by black velvet ribbon; Miss Mary Curtis, wrapped in Persian lamb, with a small crimson-trimmed Persian turban; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Beale, Mrs. B. H. Bristow Draper, Dr. David Cheever, Miss Alice Sargent, Mrs. Robert Lovett and Mr. and Mrs. Rollin M. Gallagher, Jr., who have just returned from their honeymoon. . . .

Mary O'Day Makes Debut

AFTER THE BITING COLD at the now famous Eagles-Crusaders game, Congas, waltzes and champagne punch were welcome "warmer uppers" at Mary O'Day's debut tea dance at the Ritz-Carlton. . . .

Receiving before a background of lavender and white chrysanthemums, Mary and her mother were gracious hostesses and looked more like sisters than mother and daughter. . . . Mr. O'Day and five other youthful members of the family did their share in welcoming the guests by strolling around and seeing that everyone had fun. . . . Dottie, dressed in an unusual gown of black jersey, with long, tight sleeves and a full skirt of ice blue satin, headed the pourers.

AMONG THE MANY GUESTS were Barbara Anne Paine, wearing a slim gray dress and silver fox hat; Nancy Bernard in trim black wool, with a leopard bolero gathered onto a black wool band at the waistline; Cynthia Vose in black velvet with a silver fox jacket; Mary Favorite, also in black velvet, with a circular skirt; Anne Clarke, May Bottomley, Timmie Everett, president of the Portland Junior League, who attended with Mary's brother, Sanford Chapin; Lee, Peggy and Jean Cullen and blonde Natalie White. . . .

Mrs. James J. Phelan, wearing orchids on her emerald green dress, attended with her three daughters, Ginny, Pat and Priscilla. . . . Mrs. Phelan's dress had gold applique edging the short sleeves and tunic, and her brown beret was clouded with a filmy veil. . . . Mrs. Donald Falvey, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Clark, Mr. and Mrs. P. A. O'Connell and Mr. and Mrs. E. Fred Cullen were others at this very enjoyable party. . . .

Stage Stars Attend Party

Members of the Harvard Dramatic Club and their debutante girl friends will get a few pointers on acting and stage technique from these seasoned troupers, Dorothy Gish and Louis Calhern, at a cocktail party given in their honor tomorrow afternoon at Lowell House, Harvard.

The party will not only afford an opportunity for the youthful theatrical enthusiasts to meet the stars of "Life With Father" but is a sociable get-together of all those taking part in the Dramatic Club's next production, "The Johnson" at Sanders Theater, Dec. 12-14.

Debutantes Polly Faulkner and Martha Tunner, who have gained valuable ushering experience through their duties at the Boston Morning Musicians, have been invited to head the usher staff at the Dramatic Club's production, and will be on hand at tomorrow's party.

Miss Esther Willard Bates and Mrs. Elliott Perkins, wife of the Master of Lowell House, will pour.

BRADFORD WASHBURN LECTURES TOMORROW

Mrs. Dudley Merrill, Mrs. Hartwell Pond and Mrs. Roger Converse are members of a special committee in charge of the illustrated lecture by Bradford Washburn, tomorrow evening at the Y. W. C. A., under the sponsorship of the Boston Smith College Club.

Others assisting with plans for the affair which will benefit the club's scholarship fund are Mrs. Richard Floyd, Mrs. Grafton Wilson, Mrs. E. Stanley Emery, Jr., Katharine Pierce, Mrs. Claud Cross, Mrs. J. Herbert Young, Mrs. James M. Newell, Jr., Mrs. Steele Lindsay, Mrs. James B. Mount and Mrs. James S. Bent, Jr.

New Era for American Chic

By ANNIE BRINK

IT MARKS a new era for American chic. . . . another of the monumental events that have taken place so rapidly and numerously, it's hard to realize they've happened at all. . . . and that is the first American-made collection of Mainbocher.

Paris always made headlines, and Mainbocher was one of the reasons. . . . so it's no wonder his showing here produced these fashion headlines:

Dresses that are "never unkind to a wearer's back." Mainbocher called this his "friendly dress". . . . a basically simple, quiet type, whether formal or not. . . . and so carefully designed that it may be wearable for several years.

Red, in darker shades, is an emphasized color. White gloves were definitely endorsed for evening, and may be a genuine indication of revival of the fashion.

For evening, Mainbocher likes colored lace, much tulle, youthful laces and velvets; but for daytime, a predominance of jerseys.

He lengthens the appearance of waists by penumbral effects in back and front of circular ruffles.

Another breath-stopping dress was a slender crepe with a jabot of wide Chantilly down the front of the skirt. The crepe was cut to the knees in front and filled in with lace ruffles. It was completed by a finger-length coat of the same black lace.

Another full-skirted black net frock used wide bands of silver fox down either side of the skirt. Mainbocher has a penchant for black and white, wonderful in a hip length bodice of white satin with a full skirt of black net.

Home Institute

"Just a tiny piece," cautions Mrs. Stout. She is trying so hard to get slim-taking small helpings, turning down "seconds."

If Mrs. Stout only knew that the way to reduce is cut fattening calories, not portions! Yes, you can lose as much as 10 pounds in 5 weeks and still eat satisfying, healthful meals.

For foods vary in calory content, to be fully slim again just avoid the high-calory ones and make the low-calory dishes your mainstay.

One modest slice of coconut custard pie, for instance, has 475 calories. But there are only 300 in this appetizing luncheon of green peppers stuffed with mushrooms (100), 1/2 cup baked Hubbard squash with butter (100), a slice of appleauce cake (100). On such tasty dishes you can safely cut your daily calory intake to 1200 for a while—fewer than you normally use—and so melt your fat away. A simple feat, with a calory chart showing which food is which!

And you find that your low-calory diet has plenty of healthful protective foods—such as eggs, fruits, milk. As you see yourself getting slimmer, you also see your eyes growing brighter, your skin clearer and firmer.

Wear size 16 again! A complete weight reducing program, easy and pleasant to follow, is given in our 40-page booklet, Change Your Weight For Beauty's Sake. Has menus for 42 low-calory meals, recipes for low-calory desserts. Gives a 3-day liquid diet to start your reducing. Tells how to gain, too.

Send 15 cents in coins for our booklet, Change Your Weight For Beauty's Sake, to Boston Evening American Home Institute, 309 West 19th St., New York, N. Y. Write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

You Can Be Beautiful

Smooth Out Eye Lines

By ARLINE GOULD
YOU CAN stand a lot of pampering . . . you probably love it, though it's a cinch you don't get too much of it . . . and still you'll get by . . . but there is one beauty feature to which pampering is a necessity . . . and if you don't manage it, your loss is all the greater. That's the so-sensitive eye area . . . where birthdays see fit to stake their claim first . . .

If you've wondered dimly why your eye cream hasn't done much to smooth out those lines lately, back it up with a truly unique eyelid lotion we've found. It's a threefold affair that not only rests the eyes (applied externally like a pack) but gives the eyes a sparkling, wide freshness, because it rids them of puffiness or a shadowed look . . . all horribly aging, and often quite unavoidable!

They say that if you use this eyelid lotion correctly . . . children for sparkle, and reducing puffiness, warmed for restive and wrinkle softening . . . just a few minutes a day will make you feel and look as though you'd had extra hours of rest, literally.

The truth of the matter is that this wonderful lotion, combined with a little gentle attention and relaxation, will make the network of the nervous system which surrounds the eyes respond to your beauty credit!

You probably "frown in" more crow's feet than your years deserve . . . so go about ridding yourself of them scientifically . . . and this, the pay and ruddy holiday time when you want really to look glamorous and desirable, is the best possible time to counteract fatigue so cleverly and surely!

To learn all about this remarkable eyelid lotion, phone Arline Gould, Liberty 4000, week-days except Saturday, or write, care of the Boston Evening American, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

King Apple Now Reigns

APPLE, king of fruits, reigns in the kitchen during winter months. Healthful and inexpensive, the royal fruit adds to its palatable tartness with flour and eggs, sugar and spices.

The flour in Applesauce Loaf is the accommodating carrier of applesauce and chopped nuts. Lemon juice points up the flavors.

APPLESAUCE LOAF
1 cup shortening
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
1 cup applesauce
1 tsp. lemon juice
2 cups sifted flour
3 tsp. baking powder
1/2 tsp. salt
1 cup chopped nuts
Cream shortening and sugar together. Add beaten eggs. Add lemon juice and applesauce. Sift flour, baking powder and salt together and add to sugar mixture, stirring only enough to moisten flour. Add nuts. Bake in greased loaf pan in moderate oven (375 deg. F.) 1 hour 15 minutes.

Spicy apple muffins contain finely chopped apples, along with cinnamon and nutmeg for spiciness.

SPICY APPLE MUFFINS
2 cups sifted flour
2 tsp. baking powder
1/2 tsp. soda
1/2 tsp. salt
1 tsp. cinnamon
1/2 tsp. nutmeg
1 egg
3/4 cup brown sugar
1 cup sour milk or buttermilk
1/2 cup melted shortening
1 cup finely chopped apples (about 1 1/2 medium-sized apples)
Sift flour, baking powder, soda, salt, cinnamon and nutmeg together. Combine beaten egg, brown sugar, sour milk and melted shortening. Add to flour mixture, stirring only enough to moisten flour. Add apples. Fill greased muffin pans 2/3 full. Bake in moderate hot oven (425 deg. F.) 25 minutes. Makes 20 two-inch muffins.

APPLE PAN DOWDY
5 apples, sliced
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup molasses
1/2 tsp. nutmeg
1/2 tsp. salt
1 cup hot water
1/2 tsp. cinnamon
Wash, pare, core and slice apples. Add sugar, molasses, spices, salt and hot water. Place in a pudding dish on the back of the range and let simmer until soft. Prepare dough made of the following:

1 cup flour
2 tsp. baking powder
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 cup shortening
1 cup milk or water (about)
Sift dry ingredients. Rub in shortening, add milk. Put on top the apple mixture and cook in a moderate oven for 35 minutes.

THE dispatch case fitted into the secret drawer neatly . . . as neatly, in fact, as though it had been made for nothing else. But what did it contain? Had she seen her guardian or one of his men open such a case? Or was it some instinctive, older memory that guided her slender fingers to the secret lock? It didn't matter . . . the case flew open and its contents lay spread before her.

At first she was disappointed. Only tightly packed sheets of super-thin paper, covered with micro-scopic words, figures and diagrams. Then there leaped at her the bold words: Z-Kay — Formula 13 — Re Wireless and Television.

She thrilled at the thought of all it implied. His most priceless secret—and he had placed it in her care. England's secret, too—perhaps the weapon that would defeat her enemies. Would it even the secret drawer of the cabinet be safe enough for such a treasure?

As she hesitated, she became conscious of a scratching at the door. Swiftly she snapped the case shut and closed the secret drawer on it. None too soon. As she rose to her feet she saw the room door begin to open . . . slowly.

Brinda watched with fascinated eyes as the opening grew wider. She was ready to cry out when, with a mixture of anger and relief, she recognized the long, horsey face and rheumy eyes of the housekeeper. The latter wore a dragged Mother Hubbard and a night-cap, from beneath which thin locks of gray hair straggled downward.

"For goodness' sake, Walker!" Brinda exclaimed in exasperation. "Why don't you knock—or at least just open the door and come in. Why must you be so stealthy?"

Walker edged inside and closed the door behind her.

"Beg pardon, Miss," she answered hoarsely. "I didn't go far to startle you." She gazed owlishly about the room. "There's strange goings-on about tonight—queer people coming and going. I was in a worry, you being so late-like, getting home. Maybe you'd be wanting a cup of tea?"

Brinda was instantly repentant. Poor old soul—no wonder she had been infected by the miasma of mystery that enveloped the Sandersons' home!

"That's thoughtful of you, Walker, dear." She kicked off her slippers. "Yes, I'd like some tea, if it isn't too much trouble."

"I'll fetch it," said the housekeeper. Still with the same surreptitious air, she vanished as she had come.

"MORE LIKE HER"

By the time she was back, Brinda was undressed and, clad in a loose negligee of yellow silk, lay relaxed on the big, old-fashioned bed—a massive piece of old it might be as the Sandersons' family tree.

Walker set the tea on the table by the bed.

"A gentleman telephoned," she

Principal Characters In Today's Chapter

BRINDA, daughter of Mata Hari, notorious World War spy.

WALKER, housekeeper in Sir John Sandersons' home.

VASLAV, mysterious Russian nobleman who may be a Nazi agent.

said, almost in a whisper. "A foreign gentleman. A Prince he was. He wanted to know if you was home yet." She peered intently at Brinda. "Would you be knowing anyone like that?"

Brinda smiled. Vaslav, of course. He had been worried when the chauffeur returned without her.

"Yes, Walker. I know him. Thanks for the tea."

But the housekeeper still lingered, her gaze darting here and there, her manner fraught with vague foreboding.

"It's no marvel a Prince would like you, Miss," she said unexpectedly. "You're by way of being more of a beauty each day. More like her."

Brinda looked up from her tea in perplexity.

"If that goes in and out," whispered the housekeeper. "The dark-haired lady."

In spite of herself, a strange, eerie shiver ran down Brinda's spine.

"But I don't know what you're talking about, Walker. What dark-haired lady?"

"Her with the queer veil," said the housekeeper. "Like a bandage over her eyes, it is." Then, as Brinda's face only expressed further bewilderment, "You mean you've never seen her?"

Again, Brinda experienced a weird tingling along her backbone. Could it be that the responsibility of tending the home of Britain's Intelligence Chief had added the housekeeper's brain? But no, Walker looked as stolid and unimaginative as ever. Only her eyes, rheumy and restless, continued to search the room. Following them, Brinda realized with a start that Walker tragedy and violence—Kenley's murder, the stabbing of Sir John, the blood-stained trunk and its horrible contents—no wonder Walker's simple mind was reeling!

Yet, as Brinda's gaze wandered back to the jewel cabinet, it seemed to her for an icy moment that she was not looking at the jewel cabinet, but at its reflection in the pier-glass, and that the illusion was caused by some trick of drapery and her own flesh.

"I'm worse than Walker!" she murmured with a smile.

Despite which, when she drifted off to sleep, it was to dream a strange, disturbing and endless dream in which were curiously intermingled Dick, Walker, Lord Mountwryn, Vaslav, and a strangely beautiful woman with blue-black hair and a dark, golden skin and a mysterious, tender smile . . . But a bandage hid the dream creature's eyes, and when Brinda sought to lift it, she found only deep, deep pools that somehow she knew were pools of tears.

On the afternoon after the bombing of Dick's laboratory, Prince Vaslav sat at the gold-inlaid desk in his private study, moving ivory pieces on a chessboard of ebony and Carriacian walnut. There was a discreet knock on the door, and a servant admitted the chauffeur who had been charged with driving Brinda home.

Vaslav looked up, his dark eyes cold and hard.

"You did not obey my instructions, Mueller . . . Why?"

"The place was dangerous," the man said sullenly. "I did what I thought was best."

Vaslav studied him a moment broodingly.

"What ails you? Are you a coward?"

The chauffeur flushed.

"No more than you," he said, with studied insolence, "but I don't care to risk my life for the sake of another's life affairs."

Vaslav's face shifted ever so slightly, his body leaned forward. His voice was like a purr when he spoke again, but it was the purr of some savage jungle animal.

"Were you employed to supervise my love life, may I ask? Or, to put it another way, have you observed at any time that I was not able to handle such matters myself?"

"This is different," the chauffeur replied. "You're in love with this Brinda." He showed signs of uneasiness under Vaslav's gaze, but went doggedly on. "Yes, it's true—you're in love with her."

VASLAV TRIUMPHS

"Dog!" said Vaslav, quietly. "You presume. Besides, you have not removed your cap. I shall remove it for you." He leaned across the desk and slapped the chauffeur so heavily that it was like a shot. The man staggered, snatched vainly at the cap as it fell. Then he straightened, whipping his right hand to the pocket of his chauffeur's uniform.

In a single, cat-like bound, Vaslav cleared the desk. His hand gripped the man's wrist, forcing it upward and backward. The pistol clattered to the floor. Vaslav picked it up and aimed it. The chauffeur went white.

"Don't! Don't! I—I was wrong," Vaslav smiled coldly.

"Very wrong. But—I do not wish to kill you. You are too good a chauffeur. Do you swear 'o obey in the future? Without question?"

"I swear!"

"Then pick up your cap and get out! Wait—here is your pistol. You had better learn to handle it. As for the rest, let's have no more nonsense! You know your duties. Perform them, as I do mine. By the way, I prefer to be addressed as Excellency by my chauffeur. Even when we are alone. Goodnight."

Laboriously, as if against his own will, the chauffeur pocketed his pistol.

"Good-night—Excellency. I shall not offend again. As you say, I know my duty." Outside the door he stood motionless, his face comforted with rage. "Yes, Prince Vaslav," he whispered, "I know my duty—as you will find—when the time comes!"

You Can Get a $150 LOAN in 24 Hours

AND REPAY ONLY $9.56 A MONTH

You can borrow $100 if you can pay back $6.41 a month and 2% per month on that part of a balance in excess of $100 is less than the maximum permitted by the Small Loan Law and is the same to everyone

Simple to borrow

We require no salary or wage assignment, no stocks or bonds. (Loans are made on furniture, car or your personal note.) No credit inquiries of friends or relatives. You don't have to ask friends or relatives to sign the papers.

You can get a personal loan of $20 to $500 at Household Finance at rates substantially below the lawful maximum—if you can repay in small monthly installments.

Payments to fit your purse
You may choose the most convenient repayment plan from the table below. Suppose that you need $100 and you can readily repay $9.75 a month. Your installments will repay a $100 loan in full in twelve months. Or, if you wish smaller payments, as little as $6.41 a month for twenty months will also repay a $100 loan.

See the sample loans and payment plans in the table. (Loans also made in other amounts and for other periods.) Payments in the table repay everything. Household's rate of 2 1/2% per month on that part of a balance not exceeding $100.

Case of Kidnaping; B. C. Sets Pigskin Style

By AUSTEN LAKE

B. C., ROUGHED AND RUMPLED by Holy Cross in their ultimate, cataclysmic, but otherwise ho-hum ball game, missed being added to this weird season's list of sensational flops—and that by a frog's whisker. But B. C. did two things Saturday which may make a pattern for 1941 coaching methods around the U. S. A. They revived the forgotten art of "ball snatch-ing," the thing that our elder pigskin brothers and their canvas corsetted, quilted daddies used to practice with such finesse. Let me elucidate!

Austen Lake

Item One—H. C.'s Frank Saba caught a first period punt well down field, wriggled up the South sideline and was pinned in a subway jam. He was trying to wrestle loose with the ball hugged limply in his arms when B. C.'s little opportunist, Monk Maznicki, wrenched it away and scampered off to the end zone.

Item Two—Donald Currievan's historic extraction from Bill Osmanski's armpit in the fatal fourth, as they spun and gyrated on the H. C. 5, and Donald's subsequent flop on the yellow egg as it lay, $75,000 worth of collateral, on the turf.

What does football law say about this? It says, in effect, that it's up to the ball carrier to protect his ownership of the leather, that the "snatch" is perfectly legitimate and within the scope of smart tactics and good sportsmanship.

A Different Rule in Each Case

YET HERE WERE TWO DIFFERENT types of the "snatch," both legal and both covered by different rules. The difference is that Maznicki grabbed his on a run back of a punt where the kick-catcher is protected against fumbling—and, technically, Maznicki's clutch comes under the fumble category.

The rule reads that no opposing player may advance the ball beyond the point of recovery on a punt-fumble, even though the oval is caught in the air. It's dead in possession of the opposing player at the spot of the grab. So, though Monk's run into the end zone would have been nullified, it would have been B. C.'s ball—except for that little business of the offside penalty.

All right! On the other hand, Osmanski had no such rule-protection on his snatch-fumble because he was running from scrimmage. Thus, had Currievan successfully grabbed it out of his arms, a la Maznicki, he could have galloped the intervening distance to the goal line without let or hindrance from the officials. For, in such conditions, an opposing player may run with a fumble caught before it touches the ground—and, I repeat, the "snatch" is technically a fumble.

As it was, the ball squirted out of Osmanski's arms, bobbed to the turf and caused a different phase of the fumble rule. At the instant it touched the ground, Currievan could only recover it, which he did!

IT HAS BEEN AT LEAST THREE YEARS since this huckster of wonder, wit and what-not, has seen a clear-cut case of ball snatch-ing—and that was in a 1937 Fordham-Pitt game when the latter's fullback was churning from the Fordham 3 for what seemed like a sure-shot touchdown. But he never reached the lip of the goal, because the Fordham end tackled him chest high, wrestled the ball from his grasp and was off down the sideline. Holler? Sure Pitt hollered! But there it was, seven points against them instead of seven in their favor, or a variable of 13 points on one play.

Whether Frank Leahy, and a canny, modern football brain he has, teaches the technique of ball snatch-ing to his boys or not I don't know. If so he deserves credit for reviving an archaic trick. For more and more in late years the college ball tofers have grown lax in handling the leather. Indeed, some of the Nation's greats, like Tommy Harmon of Michigan, Francis Reagan of Penn and even B. C.'s Charley O'Rourke have formed the habit of cuddling the ball in the heel of a hand and shuffling through the field like they were the baker's boy delivering a loaf of bread. It's a modernistic trend which would have old time coaches like Penn's Bob Fajarel, Harvard's Houghton, Notre Dame's Rockne and B. C.'s Cavanaugh snatching out their scalp fuzz by handfuls.

Why, at the moment of tackling impact, more of these sloppily-held oblate ovoids haven't been slapped loose, I don't know, except that it just hasn't occurred to varsity kids or coaches. Indeed, the old time "high-low" style of tackling, too, has gone with the bustle, leg-of-mutton sleeve and mutton-chop whiskers—the practice of having one tackler clutch the ball carrier's knees and the other go for the ball. And don't think it didn't work!

Tennessee Will Be Forewarned

ILL BET THAT TENNESSEE'S SUGAR BOWL boys will be apprised of this B. C. habit before New Year's. I'll wager all the T's in little tattle that they will be forewarned, "Hug that ball," and will squeeze it under the hollow of their hearts just at the instant of collision.

Watch next autumn! For there were a dozen big time coaches in the stands taking mental notes on B. C. style for future employment in their own systems. Coaches, like doctors, make a clinical study of such things. So, though they saw nothing serviceable elsewhere in the B. C. method—the game was a season's new low—they must have taken mental jottings in the two cases of kidnaping and muttered, "Mmmm, why didn't we get busy on that before?" It has, more than ever, payoff possibilities. Didn't it net B. C. an undefeated, untied record and 75 grand in government greenbacks? It did!

PACINO SEEKS REVENGE IN ALL-AMERICA 160'S

It's back to the Boston Arena tonight for another in the series of stand-out All-America amateur boxing shows. It is the fourth and final tryout for the New England All-America championships, an annual feast of title boxing which moves into Boston Garden next Monday night.

SOX FENCE BUILDERS—Manager Joe Cronin, on first step of Pullman car; Eddie Collins, center, and Frank Shellenback, top, board train today for Athens, Ga., where the minor leagues' meeting opens Wednesday. The Hose are reported again once for Catcher Frank Hayes of the Athletics. Maybe Joe, Eddie, and Frank can bring back the ace backstop who could make the Hose a pennant winner next year.

This All-America show has come to be recognized as the nation's greatest incubator for future professional ring talent.

It is sponsored by the Boston American-Daily Record and the Irish American A. A., who tonight proudly offer a card of outstanding possibilities at the low price scale of 55c and $1.10. There are NO SEATS HIGHER.

Interest in amateur boxing has reached a new high this year, thanks to the intense activity which has marked the tryouts.

None of the thousands who jammed the ringside last Monday night will soon forget the climactic close to the lengthy program.

It was in the 33rd and final bout of the evening that Tommy Hill of Lowell, a multiple-driving southpaw blitzer, staged a sensational comeback to knock out Roxbury's Larry Pacino in the middleweight final.

The huge crowd stayed long after the issue was ended, cheering both victor and vanquished to the echo.

Pacino, one of the finest amateurs ever developed in these regions, was far from content with the outcome. He lays the blame for his defeat on over-confidence, and tonight will return to the ring wars intent on qualifying into the New England finals where he hopes for another crack at his recent conqueror.

CONNOLLY, TOO

This 160-pound class once more appears to be a standing Pacino's opposition will be formidable.

Included is Jimmy Mulligan, another hard-hitter; John McKinnon, Boston; Guy Vitagliano, Somerville, and Eddie Spirdone, Lawrence, in the 118's; Al Sforza, North End; Vincent Doyle, Roxbury's 1940 Massachusetts state 118-pound champion; Homer Reichard and Walter Barch of Somerville; and Frank Toscano, Boston, in the featherweight division.

Bees, Reds Dickering On Deal for Miller

ATLANTA, Dec. 2 (AP)—Major league trade talk was heard freely today as baseball's moguls began their annual bargaining season as a side attraction to the convention of the nation's minor crops.

No one would admit that any deals were near completion, but it was considered certain that some purchases or trade would come out of the hotel pow-wows before the National Association of professional baseball leagues closes its parley Friday.

Two National Leaguers, President Larry MacPhail of Brooklyn and Mgr. Frankie Frisch of Pittsburgh, led the increasing procession of big time leaders into Atlanta. They checked in 60 hours ahead of business sessions, which are to start Wednesday.

BEES-REDS DEAL HINTED Catchers Mickey Owen and Gus Mancuso, other players and cash terms mentioned in a deal brewing between Brooklyn and the St. Louis Cardinals.

Frisch and Pirate President William E. Benswanger planned further conversations with Card. Gen. Mgr. Branch Rickey on swapping plans. Cardinal officials have said they were in the market, without naming players or positions, but they are not expected to part with any of their regular hurlers.

Cincinnati and the Boston Bees reportedly were considering a deal involving infielders Eddie Miller and Billy Myers, along with about $60,000.

The St. Louis Browns are known to be ready to dish out cash for two pitchers and a season-long catcher, although they are unwilling to part with any of their regulars. Washington wants two infielders and an outfielder.

Boston's Red Sox have an eye out for Catcher Frank Hayes of the Philadelphia Athletics.

LANDIS QUESTION

An unexpected move was made by the New York Yankees. They planned to pass up this convention of some 40 minor loops in favor of the major league sessions in Chicago next week, but now Manager Joe McCarthy is expected here, probably Wednesday.

Some hints were dropped that the minors are seeking a voice in the selection of baseball's commissioner. He is now chosen by the majors. The minors are tackling a revision of the major-minor league agreement covering all organized baseball, which expires in 1942 simultaneously with Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis' term.

Lou Vivoli, Boston, State 160 pounds champion; Earle Smith, Boston, and John Lopes, New Bedford, are standouts in the 175 pounds, and Bill Dupree, Cambridge, John Hanson Worcester, and Hank Grove, Dedham, top the heavyweight class.

Affection for B. C. Seniors Almost Lost Day for Leahy

Most Effective
Purple
Play,
the Sweep

By BILL GRIMES

Head Coach Frank Leahy will crate up his undefeated and untied Boston College Eagles two weeks from Wednesday and entrain for Bay St. Louis, Miss., a small hamlet on the shores of the Gulf of Mexico between Biloxi and New Orleans. Bay St. Louis is less than one hour's drive from the Crescent City.

There, under the sub-tropical sun of that gulf coast town, the Eagles will practice for 11 days on the glidion of St. Stanislaus College for the most important assignment ever undertaken by a Boston College squad.

The objective is the 1941 Sugar Bowl game with the Tennessee Volunteers, who wound up their third successive perfect season Saturday with a victory over Vanderbilt.

After the close call with Holy Cross, the Eagles were allowed to break training, but they'll be back in football harness before the end of the week.

A week ago today, when Leahy predicted at the Football Writers' Round Up luncheon that Boston College would win by one point or one touchdown at the very outside, the experts smiled and thought to themselves "He's putting on the weeps again."

SENIORITY FLAQUE

On the basis of what occurred at Fenway Park last Saturday, Leahy knew more about Holy Cross and Boston College than the so-called experts.

He realized from the actions of his players that they weren't going to be keyed up enough to do much scoring against the Crusaders.

Moreover, he knew Holy Cross would play an inspired brand of football.

Leahy had experienced great difficulty for a month prior to the Cross test trying to get his boys in the proper mental attitude. Thoughts of a perfect slate and a post season game were weighing heavily on their minds. They hadn't been able to concentrate.

With the exception of the few moments it took them to score after the Curran-Osmanski incident, the Eagles were listless and unimpressive all afternoon.

In all probability, Leahy has had his fill of sentiment for seniors. A week ago, he would have started eleven seniors had it been possible. He wanted to show his appreciation for what they had done for him and Boston College, when they were juniors.

He sent eight seniors into action at the start of the game, and before he was able to juggle his line up, Mike Holovak was knocked goofy by a terrific block from Johnny Grigas. Afterwards, Leahy never did get his complete first varsity into action as a unit.

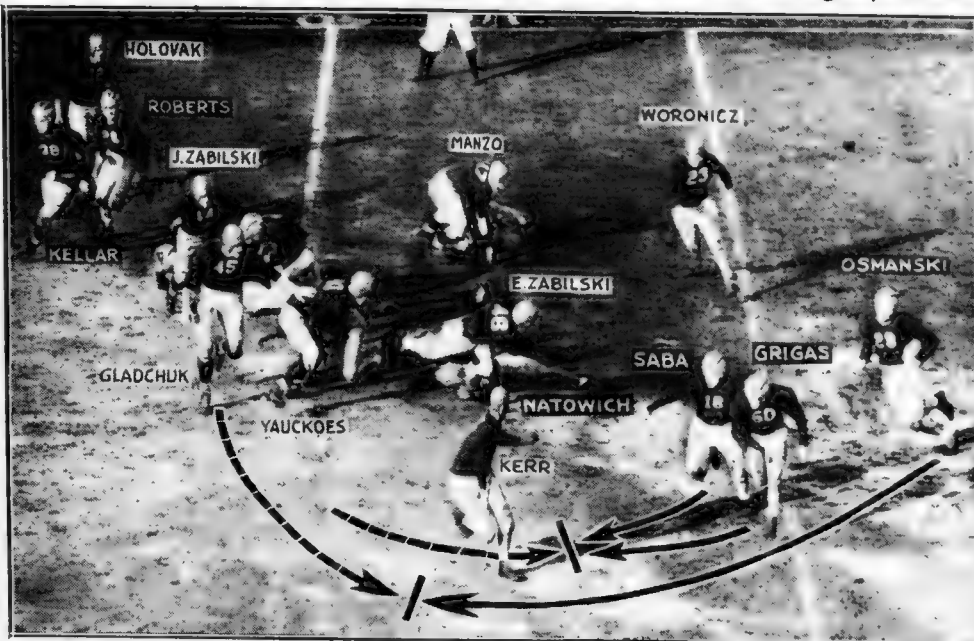

SABA SMART

Before getting around to Curran's quick thinking, which converted a scoreless tie into a Boston College victory, let's rehash the series of plays leading up to the "break" of the game.

Following a Mickey Connolly punt, which bounced into the end zone, Holy Cross put the ball in play on its own 20. After a short gain by Grigas, Saba saw that Connolly was not playing deep, so he called for a quick kick.

Andy Natowich booted the ball over the head of the B. C. safety

H. C. ON WARPATH—One Holy Cross play which brought the fans to their feet time and again Saturday was the end sweep. Many times it missed but on several occasions it picked up yardage galore and, in two cases, Osmanski was almost in the clear. Above you see Joe Osmanski (29) starting on a straight sweep to his left. Saba (16) and Grigas (50) are both headed for George Kerr (47). The latter is backing up Eddie Zabalski (46), B. C. right end, who is shown coming over after getting away from Natowich and Kretowicz. Yauckoes (10) is on the line of scrimmage. Kellar (38) and Roberts (26), Holy Cross right tackle and right end, released quickly and went down the field to take care of the halfback and quarterback. Nobody in the line, however, came out fast enough to take out Chet Gladchuk (45) and the Boston College center held Osmanski to a short gain. Holovak (No. 2 in upper left), who has starred as fullback for B. C. all season, was the only player not covering his assignment. He suffered a head injury when blocked by Grigas in the first period and was in a daze for a quarter and a half. Toczylowski, a teammate discovered his erratic actions and walked him to the sidelines and out of the conflict.

NEBRASKA IS NAMED STANFORD BOWL FOE

PALO ALTO, Cal., Dec. 2 (AP)—Stanford University, unbeaten and untied Pacific Coast Conference champion, and

University of Nebraska, one-decimated title-holder of the Big Six, will clash Jan. 1 in the annual Rose Bowl football game at Pasadena.

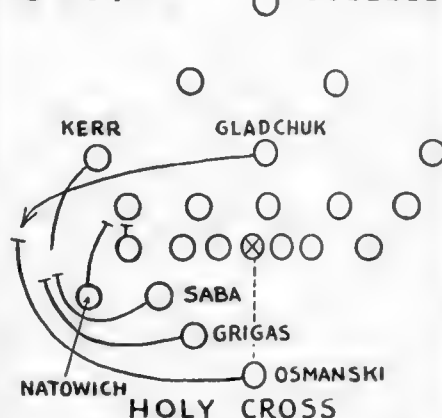

Announcement of Stanford's invitation and Nebraska's acceptance for the game was made last night, and immediately Stanford authorities began preparations for the contest.

Nebraska, defeated 13-7 by Minnesota in this year's opening game, never has played in the Rose Bowl. Stanford, which closed its regular season last Saturday by beating University of California 13-7, last appeared in Pasadena in 1936, when the Indians beat Southern Methodist 7-0.

Stanford, with a new coach in the person of Clark Shaughnessy, former Chicago mentor, made a phenomenal sweep this year after a dismal 1939 season.

Stanford started strongly this season by crushing University of San Francisco 27-0 and bowled over successively Oregon 13-0, Santa Clara 7-6, Washington State 26-14, Southern California 21-7, University of California at Los Angeles 20-14, Washington 20-10, Oregon State 26-14 and California 13-7.

BOSTON COLLEGE

3-Week Layoff For Vol Squad

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Dec. 2 (AP)—Members of Tennessee's triumphant football team today began a three-week vacation from practice as the first preparation for their appearance against Boston College in the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans on New Year's day.

Maj. Robert E. Neyland tentatively set Monday, Dec. 23, for the next drill.

"We will have nine or ten days to regain our playing form," the retired army officer explained, adding that he would take the squad to Edgewater Gulf Hotel, between Biloxi and Gulfport, Miss., for the finishing touches.

The date the squad "We'll take the usual traveling squad of about 35 men"—will go South has not been determined.

Although the major did not admit that the Eagles have been scouted, such is believed to be the case.

36 Everett Expecting Post-Season Bid From Dixie School

By SAM BROGNA

With Bowl bids filling the air, the newly crowned schoolboy State champion, Everett High School, sat back, hoping and expecting an offer for a post-season game with a Southern team as a reward for their fine showing in the title race.

Feelers have evidently been sent to the Everett High School committee, although nothing definite was to be learned as to what school would be host to the Dennie Gildea eleven.

Gus Braun, member of the school committee and the stadium commission, admitted that Everett was expecting an offer which would probably be accepted.

"We are hoping for an offer and expect one, said Braun. "Because of weather conditions locally, we would not consider a game locally, but would prefer to play where the climate was warmer. A bid where no indebtedness would be incurred would be readily accepted."

Coach Dennis Gildea's big Red Wave tucked away the much disputed crown on the Sabbath with a one-sided win over Chelsea high in the seasonal climax for both schools.

It was a blazing finish for the Everett representatives, because as recently as the eve of Thanksgiving Day, Peabody then undefeated, and both Lynn teams, English and Classical, were rated 1-2-3.

LIKE SUNDAY GAME

Then things happened! Peabody went down before Gloucester for its first setback of the year, and Classical and English finished in a 6-6 deadlock.

Had the Tanners won over the Fishermen, they would have annexed the title. The same held true for Classical, a team which had defeated the Red Wave.

A number of other important events occurred at the Chelsea Memorial Stadium in Everett's one-sided 32 to 6 triumph over the Red Devils.

This game, the first Greater Boston or public school meeting in the history of schoolboy football, probably will not be the last. Although quite a howl was put up by the Everett clergymen, protesting against Sunday playing, the game proved to be a big success. More than 12,000 were in attendance, filling every available inch of space in the stadium. The idea may be followed up next year by a number of other schools.

DEROSA'S FAREWELL

School Grid Board Meets Tomorrow

The Daily Record-Evening American All-Scholastic Board of coaches will meet tomorrow night at the Hotel Lenox to select the official All-Scholastic football team for 1940.

The board is made up of Harry Down, Brookline high; Jim Mansfield, Haverhill high; Bill Broderick, Salem high; Fred Osterberg, Arlington high; "Skip" Sherlock, Hyde Park high; Bill Ohrenberger, English high; George Kennedy, Beverly high, and Dennis Gildea, Everett high school.

The last two mentioned have been added to the selective board list recently and will be making their first appearance at the round table. It is expected that the "all" eleven will be published later in the week in both the Record and American.

ing into a squabble with Dan Sanko of Chelsea.

Gildea protested for almost 15 minutes with the officials to allow DeRosa to play but to no avail.

The school season will come to its official close next Saturday. Seven games are on the card that day with Rindge Tech at Somerville the leading clash. Other contests are Watertown at Belmont, Dedham at Norwood, Natick at Framingham, Lexington at Concord, Johnson at Puncnash and Chelmsford at Lowell.

Name Co-Captains At Malden High

At a meeting of the lettermen this morning, Tackle Frank Reardon and Half-back Andy Lipnosky were elected co-captains of the Malden high school football team for the 1941 season. It was also announced that Brockton had been added to the schedule although no definite date had been set as yet.

SPORT-O-GRIMES

Frank Leahy will give his Eagles a few days off before starting preparations for the Tennessee Vols. B. C. has been under great pressure since stepping into the limelight by virtue of its September victory over Tulane . . .

Young Bob Grove, son of "Old" Moss, who spent the Thanksgiving Day holidays with his pal, Eddie Keeney, a B. C. sophomore, watched the Eagles beat the Crusaders from the press box . . . Hank Goldup, the Maple Leaf scenger, has scored seven goals in ten N. H. L. games . . .

Anyone who doesn't believe Cleo O'Donnell, St. Anselm's head coach, is a 100 per cent Holy Cross rooster should have seen him at Fenway Park, Saturday. Joe Stevens, one of the "up and at 'em" sons of the late Harry M. Stevens, who parlayed a bag of peanuts into millions of dollars and the most far reaching connection business in the world, was to have been here for the B. C. H. C. game, but the old "flu" bug grabbed him last week, and he's confined to his home at New Rochelle, N. Y. . . .

The inspired type of football played by the Crusaders against the Eagles should spike all rumors that Joe Sheeketski will be turned loose by the authorities at Holy Cross . . . The Crusaders were so keyed up Saturday that just before "Butch" Kissell scored that $75,000 T. D., Paul Dorrington awarded a well executed left hook at Capt. John Keller. It was a fraction of an inch short of its mark . . . B. C.-H. C. games are the toughest assignments football officials can possibly receive. In order to do a good job, the whistle and horn tooters must appreciate the tremendous rivalry existing between the teams . . .

Coach Hapo Harrington's Olympics haven't been consistent winners in the Eastern Amateur League, yet they play to near capacity houses every time they appear at the Boston Garden. They have box office appeal to the nth degree. BILL GRIMES.

New Orleans Bookies Kayoed On Brown Game

Bob Feller would have been in the movies now if the Indians had won the pennant, according to the Associated Press. . . . Nomination for the tops coaching job of the season: Clark Shaughnessy. . . . You can put a whole lot of guys in second place, but we'll take Tom Lieb of Florida. . . . Lew Jenkins, the lightweight king, has organized his own swing band and is available for bookings.

The job of managing the Giants' Jersey City farm still is wide open. . . . Up to now, Connie Mack has nixed all offers to sell or trade Frankie Hayes and he has plenty. . . . Washington U. would have demanded a Rose Bowl showdown if Stanford had lost Saturday.

WHY ALL THE FUSS?

Apparently Joe Louis takes Al McCoy more seriously than a lot of other people. . . . Anyway, the Champ arrived in Boston for training armed with two baggage trunks loaded with training equipment. . . . Boston writers were as surprised as anybody, and some of them said so.

ODDS AND ENDS

Few persons know it, but the day after he lost his first game with the Washington Redskins four years ago, Coach Ray Flaherty was given a 10-year contract by owner George Preston Marshall. . . . For the first time in years, Al Weill, who pilots the biggest tight stable since the days of Leo P. Flynn, is going on an extended tour with his fighters.

New York, for some reason still unexplained, is awfully keen for a Max Baer-Billy Conn fight. Some folks thought the Conn-Savold fight in the Garden the other night was poor—not that there was any business done, the fight just was flat.

LAUGH OF THE WEEK

Those New Orleans bookies who didn't know the Brown-Columbia game was played during the morning and accepted bets right up till noon, just as if nothing had happened—and took the worst shelling since the Fair Grounds went out of business. . . . Haul!

F. B. RECORD DEPT.

First complete checkup (still unofficial) shows Davey O'Brien was responsible for at least 100 National Football League records when he pitched 60 passes and completed 33 for 316 yards against Washington Sunday. . . . He set new league records for completions and yards gained in one game and helped Don Looney set another record by catching 11 passes. . . . Besides that, Davey seems sure with a new team and individual season records for completions. . . . Christmas Dept.: First card received from Lincoln Markin, drummer for the Kent State (O.) University. . . .

TODAY'S GUEST STAR

JOHN P. CARMICHAEL, Chicago, "Wade Killefer, the new manager of the Indianapolis Ball Club, succeeded Jewel Ems, who succeeded Ray Schalk, who succeeded Wade Killefer. . . . So goes baseball.

BRUINS' DEFENSE CAUSE FOR CLUB'S POOR SHOWING

One of the enigmas of the National Hockey League continues this year. It is the annual early season slump of the mighty Boston Bruins.

Surette Star Of 'Ice Capades'

Led by a stellar cast of figure skaters, intermingled with riotous fun furnished by some of the greatest ice comedians ever to don skates, "Ice-Capades of 1941" moves into the Garden Wednesday evening for a five-night stay.

The feminine cast is headed by Belita, glamorous English star, who is the leading ballerina of the ice. Another favorite is Vera Hruba, the charming miss who thrilled thousands in her debut here at the Boston American-Sunday Advertiser Ice Derby.

As a figure skater in her native Austria, Vera won five championships.

Lois Dworschak of Duluth, Minn., also a headliner, returns to the Garden again with her modern tempos. She will "give" and "Truck" in the approved "hot" fashion but on steel blades, these steps become something approaching art.

Al Surette, former Boston boy, and Eric Waite, will provide most of the comedy. Al adds to the comedy relief with his famous specialty of the inebrated scare-crow.

Waite, originally a hockey player, favors the dead pan type of humor employed by Buster Keaton of the films. Prior to taking up this sort of work, Eric dabbled in comedy as a hobby until he received offers to perform professionally.

More comedy will be offered by the team of Bernie Lyman and Larry Jackson, a pair of west coast boys who were individual successes as comedy skaters for many years.

Louis Takes Day Off From Grind

Joe Louis was to resume his training at Johnny Buckley's gym on Friday, but tomorrow for his 15-round title bout with Al McCoy that will be held at the Garden on Dec. 16.

George Nicholson, James J. Johnston and Emil Schults will continue to box with Louis for the remainder of the week.

McCoy continues to train at Lou Stillman's gym in New York.

Louis' Sunday workout was interrupted by a claim that it was being held in violation of the Sunday law. At a hearing before Judge Brackett in the Municipal Court today an application for a complaint against Johnny Buckley, owner of the gym, Louis and Nicholson was continued on a statement by counsel that there would not be any more Sunday boxing.

The court was told that persons attending the gym had the right to gymnasium privileges in addition to the right to watch any boxers who might be training in the place.

Louis will restrict his future training to week days as he was not anxious to become the center of any controversy.

Redskins, Bears Meet For Pro Crown

CHICAGO, Dec. 2 (AP)—The Chicago Bears, with one of the most powerful attacks in the game, and the Washington Redskins, dangerous both ground and in the air, will battle it out at Washington next Sunday for the National Professional football championship.

The Bears clinched the western division championship and the Redskins won the eastern sectional title as the regular season closed.

The Bears whipped the Chicago Cardinals, 31 to 23, and Washington turned back Philadelphia's Eagles 13 to 6. But even in defeat, two losing performances were the brightest spots of the day's final program.

O'BRIEN'S RECORD

Next Sunday's big battle will mark the first time since 1937 that the Bears and Washington have been in the final playoff.

Little Davey O'Brien of the Eagles bowed out magnificently in yesterday's game. He completed 33 passes out of 60 tries for a new record. That bettered the previous mark of 23, set by Bunch this season.

O'Brien, who plans to go to work for the Federal Bureau of Investigation within a few days, also played a brilliant running game and was out of the lineup only 17 seconds.

Two other players also set marks in this duel, which gave Washington a final standing of nine wins and two defeats.

Don Looney, Eagle end, caught 14 passes to break the old mark of eight for a single game.

Baugh turned in a record smashing punt, 85 yards from the line of scrimmage, to shatter Parker Hall's mark of 80.

CARDS ON RAMPAGE

Washington won on second and third period touchdowns by Wilbur Moore and Dick Todd. O'Brien's pass to Frank Emmons gave the losers their touchdown.

Mr. BOSTON

NOW THAT BOSTON College is safely on its way to a Sugar Bowl game with Tennessee, the All-America boxing shows will take the sports limelight. . . . Even hockey will not be able to take the play away from the carefree amateur boxers who have been furnishing such intense action in the Monday night, tryouts at the Arena.

The final trial tournament will be held at the St. Botolph street arena this evening. . . . Tom Kanaly and George Freeman have been besieged by simon pure boxers from every section of New England who are eager to try to qualify for the New England finals at the Garden a week from tonight.

Boston will be the capital of the boxing world this week. . . . What with the All-America show at the Arena this p. m., Joe Louis tuning up his punch at Johnny Buckley's Gym on Friend st. for his 15-round tussle with Al McCoy at the Garden on December 16, Max Baer tossing a cocktail party at the Ritz for the press as part of the ballyhoo for his theatrical bow at the Colonial Theater tomorrow night, and Jack Sharkey discussing boxing with Louis and Baer, the town is very much fight conscious.

Max Baer

Holy Cross' startling game against Boston College proved once more that anything can happen in sport. . . . The near upset of the Bowl bound Eagles has given new hope to the backers of Al McCoy. . . . They will now tell you that Louis, like Boston College, will be burdened down by a mental hazard, and that McCoy has a chance to belt him over with a left hook to the jaw. . . . Billy Conn, world's light heavyweight champion, also came close to defeat in his New York tussle with Lee Savold. . . . Conn not only couldn't knock Savold of his pins, but he was lucky he wasn't tipped over himself.

SHOT PUT, 5 to 1 in the betting, also came along in time to win the $10,000 Handicap at Bowie on Saturday. . . . Then there was Texas' win over Texas A. & M. on Thanksgiving Day.

Shot Put Upset the Form Players

It would have been a crying shame if Boston College had lost to Holy Cross and walked itself out of the Sugar Bowl. . . . The Crusaders played a grand game, and with a better break from the officials could have gained a scoreless tie. . . . Joe Sheketsk's club came fast during the closing weeks of the season, and reached its peak for the Boston College game.

It was better that Boston College should have had its let down in the Holy Cross game than later on when it takes on Tennessee. . . . The Eagles had hard games with Tulane, Boston University, Georgetown and Auburn, and it was natural that they should come up with at least one mediocre performance. . . . Boston College kept fighting for every advantage, and helped make the break that gave it the ball on a fumble. . . . Followed the smashing touchdown.

You will be able to see Frank Leahy and the entire Boston College squad at the testimonial dinner to Charley O'Rourke at the Malden.

Coast Bid, If Any, Will Be Refused

By JACK CONWAY

Boston College's undefeated football team will battle Tennessee in the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans on New Year's Day.

All arrangements for the contest have been completed by the athletic departments of Boston College and Tennessee, and with the Sugar Bowl committee.

The formal announcement of the game will be delayed until after the College-Holy Cross contest at Fenway Park tomorrow.

NEBRASKA

THE BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN pulled the biggest newspaper football scoop of the fall season with the definite announcement in an exclusive story by Jack Conway last Friday that Boston College would play Tennessee in the Sugar Bowl on New Year's Day. At the time other newspapers were debating whether Boston College would receive a Bowl bid, and discussing the possibilities of Frank Leahy's club playing in the Rose Bowl or Sugar Bowl. Other newspapers and radio stations, after official statements from Boston College, Tennessee, and the Sugar Bowl committee, confirmed the American's exclusive story at 6 p. m. Saturday, thirty hours after the American first published the story.

Charlie O'Rourke, No. 13 on Boston College's undefeated and untied football team, will be tendered a testimonial dinner at the Malden Armory tomorrow night.

Coach Frank Leahy and the entire Eagle team will be on hand to pay fitting tribute to the national Malden star.

O'Rourke was named a member of the William Randolph Hearst All-American team which was announced in yesterday's Boston Sunday Advertiser.

This team was selected by Hearst writers in all parts of the country, and is generally accepted as the best of the All-American eleven.

The committee in charge of tomorrow night's banquet has asked Boston College to set aside O'Rourke's famous No. 13.

The dinner tomorrow night would make a fitting occasion at which John P. Curley, graduate manager at Boston College, could announce that such action had been taken.

Rev. John J. Sheehan, chairman of tomorrow night's dinner, says it was necessary to hold the affair in the Army because of the large number of people who wished to honor O'Rourke.

Every civic organization in Malden is giving the Catholic Youth Organization full support in staging tomorrow night's dinner.

PUBLIC INVITED
All of the members of the Boston College team have been invited to attend.

The committee in charge announces the public is invited to attend the dinner, and to sit in on what promises to be one of the biggest football evenings in the history of Greater Boston.

The Gridiron Club of Boston has selected Charlie O'Rourke of Boston College as winner of the 1940 George Lowe Memorial.

Awarded annually to New England's outstanding college player, last year Gene Goodreault was given the honor.

O'Rourke will receive the award tonight at a banquet of the Gridiron Club at the Hotel Lenox.

Silver Skates Derby Stars Make Good

I NOTED THAT former stars in the American-Record Silver Skates Derby are making good in a big way in the Ice Capades that opens at the Garden on Wednesday night and runs through Sunday evening . . . Vera Hrubá is one of the stars of the show . . . This talented young lady made her first Boston appearance at a Silver Skates Derby two years ago.

Al Surrette, a Boston boy, will also be with the Ice Capades . . . He is another graduate of the Silver Skates Derby . . . He comes here from the New York World's Fair where he established himself as one of the best of the ice comedians . . . Red McCarthy, who thrilled Silver Skates Derby crowds, will also appear at the Garden.

Ice carnivals have increased in popularity in recent years . . . The Sonja Henie and Ice Follies shows have helped to make people ice carnival conscious . . . Walter Brown, who knows more about this type of production than anyone in town, says the Ice Capades will thrill the large crowds which will see it.

Items from My Private Notebook

WALTER TAYLOR moved into Charles Town today in his effort to win the national jockey championship . . . It would be well to watch Taylor during this meeting . . . It is expected he will have some of the better mounts . . . It will be interesting to see how Taylor goes against Polumbo, champion rider of the half mile tracks . . . Polumbo, has done of his best riding at Charles Town.

In the matter of attendance and competition football, both college and pro, has had one of the best seasons in several years . . . Boston College, Harvard, Holy Cross, Boston University, Dartmouth and Brown have shown some splendid football this fall . . . A post-season game between Boston College and Harvard, if it had been possible, would have aroused more local interest than the coming Sugar Bowl conflict.

Dick Harlow has been one of Boston College's most ardent rooters, and was cheering for Charley O'Rourke and his teammates to battle Tennessee in New Orleans . . . Pat Hanley was also riding high on the Boston College band wagon . . . Who was it that said the world loves a winner?

Affection for Seniors Almost Fatal to Leahy

man, and it rolled deep into Eagle territory. But Holy Cross was off side, nullifying the great punt, and set back five yards. That off side penalty was the "break" that made possible the big smash.

Back on his 16-yard line, second down and 14 to go, Saba elected to try a "sleeper" play, a fake quick kick on which Natowich pretends to boot the ball but instead hands it back to Osmanski for a wide sweep around left end.

Having quick kicked on the previous play, which had been recalled, Saba must have figured the setting was perfect for a "sleeper." And, we believed he figured correctly.

But what Saba didn't know was that the fake kick is one of the Eagles' pet plays, with a slight, but all important, variation. B. C. uses that play only when O'Rourke is in deep punt formation. The Holy Cross version is to operate from a close quick kick formation.

In all probability, Holy Cross would have gotten away with that play but for the fact that Currian's reflexes were in perfect coordination.

He must have sensed the play in the nick of time for he swerved suddenly to his right when he saw Natowich pass the ball to Osmanski.

THE OLD "BREAK"

Currian made contact so quickly that Osmanski didn't have time to shift the ball into the crook of his left arm where it would have been protected.

In fact, it looked as though Currian tackled the ball, not Osmanski, for Joe was still on his two feet when Don lay on the ground with the pigskin cuddled in his arms.

The in two rushes by "Butch" Kiesel, the game was over, for it had been apparent all afternoon that either eleven could have been given the ball on its opponents' 20 yard and still wouldn't have been able to break the scoreless tie.

A "break" was destined to decide that game. And it did. But they pay off on "breaks."

O'ROURKE COMMITTEE—Here are the men responsible for the mammoth testimonial dinner which will be given in Charlie O'Rourke's honor tomorrow night. Left to right: Ray Perry, B. C. '35, cousin of O'Rourke; Fr. John J. Sheehan, Warren McGuirk, Malden High coach and former all-America tackle at B. C.; Bill Sullivan, B. C. '26, toastmaster.

Clubs and teams WITHOUT LEAGUE AFFILIATIONS which intend to enter the William Randolph Hearst Citizens' Marksmanship Competition must mail their entries so that they are postmarked NOT LATER than midnight TONIGHT.

In other words, entries for such organizations which are not part of regular leagues close today, leaving just this one last chance for the major winter rifle shooting competition. However, those clubs and teams which are identified with leagues have another two weeks before the closing date. Entries for these teams close on Dec. 16. All entries should be mailed immediately to the rifle editor of the Boston American-Record, 5 Winthrop sq., Boston. Individual teams will be matched with other similar units into special leagues for the purpose of the Hearst Citizen's Shoot. The tournament is already assured of being a notable success. Virtually all of the outstanding rifle shooting teams of New England are already entered in the competitive lists. Only those leagues which have been duly registered will be eligible to send their championship teams into the Hearst championships, which will be fired about May 1 on a shoulder-to-shoulder basis.

Actors of "All in Fun" Consult Foremost Hair Specialist

BOSTON, Dec. 1 (IW)—Red Marshall, Bill Johnson and Maurice Kelly, now appearing in the hit musical show, "All in Fun," at the Shubert Theatre, know that their good heads of hair are a real asset. Like many other leaders in the entertainment and business worlds, they consult and take treatment from John E. Warner & Associates, the foremost hair and scalp specialists of today. Business today places a high premium on personal appearance, and if you are losing your hair you should, in your own best interests, find out if John E. Warner can help you. Statistics show that 85% of all baldness is due to local scalp conditions which can be checked and corrected by Warner treatment if caught in time. But John E. Warner will not accept any case for treatment where the applicant is bald or the hair too far gone. There is never any charge for a private consultation and scalp examination. The Warner offices are conveniently located at 515 Washington St., near the corner of West Street (opposite R. H. White's), Suite 710-715. Phone Hub. 1705. Hours 10 A. M. to 8 P. M. Daily—Saturdays to 6 P. M. Fees for treatment are very moderate. There is a separate department for women.
